DOMINION OF CANADA.

Political Affairs—Sabbath-School Convention—Medical Association—Races and Rifle Matches—Commercial Intelligence.

From Our Own Correspondent.

TORONTO, Saturday, Oct. 12, 1867.

The political lull continues, but there is an evident desire on the part of the Opposition to get up an excitement, and with that object in view those of the Reform leaders who were fortunate enough to secure election have been perambulating the country and making speeches, as a matter of course trying to show that all the purity as well as patriotism is on their side, although they are in the minority. Some of them insist, however, that the Parliament of Ontario will not tolerate the present coalition Ministry, but will send it adrift at once. This is a mere assertion, and has no significance. Rather an important demonstration took place at Bournanville a few days since, at which the policy of the Opposition was indicated, and which apparently means to be of a noncombatant character. It was intended to have opposed both Governments at the start by moving motions of non-confidence, but the chiefs of the party have thought better of it and will refrain from that course. The general Parliament will, therefore, open at Ottawa with the usual ceremony, and the Opposition will permit the address in answer to the speech from the throne to pass unopposed, and reserve their attacks until business is considerably advanced. That is certainly the course marked out for the Ontario section of the Opposition. Mr. DORION, as leader of the Rouges, will hardly attempt anything without the concurrence of the Western Reformers; and Mr. HOWE—nobody seems to know what he will do, but it is known that he has selected a seat in the Commons directly opposite to the Premier's. What course the Nova Scotian members will take, no one seems even to conjecture. In the meantime, the local Government of that Province has resigned, and Mr. ARCHIBALD, the Secretary of State for the Provinces, has also resigned, but will continue to perform the duties of his office until a successor is appointed, which will not be until after the meeting of Parliament. It is thought that a change is anticipated among the Bluenose members, and that a chance will be afforded Mr. ARCHIBALD to be elected. All is mystery, as yet, however, with regard to the course to be adopted. The Local Cabinet of Ontario is now being organized, and council meetings are held almost daily. The departments have to be organized, and the work is being accomplished as rapidly as posible, but it will require several weeks to complete the alterations now going on in the Parliament Buildings. The Crown Lands Department was the most urgent, and accommodations have been found for it. The other heads of departments have no places, as yet, in which to attend to their duties, and are wandering about in expectation of soon being settled. The Attorney-General is looking after the Assizes for the County of Peel, and will in all probability attend others. This business was formerly performed by legal gentlemen specially appointed, or by the County Attorneys at the respective places. A regular cheeseparing system will be adopted in connection with the local government, and economy will be carried to extremes. Governmental management is pretty generally certain to go to the extreme one way or the other.

SABBATH-SCHOOL CONVETION.

The annual Sabbath-school Convention, held in this City this week, has been largely attended, and included several lay and clerical gentlemen from the United States. The sessions lasted three days, during which many instructive and interesting addresses were delivered. The annual report of the Association exhibited rather a gratifying result. The number of schools reported was 1,236; teachers, 10,477; scholars, 90,608. Several of the United States delegates delivered able addresses, and spoke in the highest terms of the efforts made by the Canadian Association to further the ends of Sabbath-school education. There were altogether about 200 members present.

THE MEDICAL ASSOCIATION.

The Medical Association of the Dominion met at Quebec last week, and was duly organized with Hon. Dr. TUPPER, C. B., as President. This Association was much needed; there is already one for Ontario, and the fact of its existence operated somewhat against the formation of the other. Possibly an amalgamation may be brought about. The Dominion Medical Association embraces in its ranks some of the ablest practitioners in British North America, and the other is controlled by men of large experience. There is room enough for both, however, and the chances are that the one recently formed will have to confine its operations to Quebec and the Maritime Provinces.

RACES AND RIFLE MATCHES.

The rifle matches at Hamilton were concluded yesterday, resulting in the award of the principal money prizes to Hamilton marksmen. The silver medal, annually presented by the National Rifle Association of England was won by Sergeant TOSTE, No. 2 Company, Twentieth Battalion Volunteers, of Stewartown, and the challenge cup by No. 2 Company of St. Catharines, No. 3 of the same place having won the cup last year. The conditions of the match were that three men out of any volunteer company can fire for the cup, which is to be given up each year by the company holding it the previous year. Three shots were fired at ranges of 200, 400 and 600 yards.

The Hamilton Fall races also came off this week, the principal purse being the Dominion Plate, which was won by Tom Wolfolk, by the celebrated Lexington, and owned in Quebec. The race was a dash of two miles; time, 3:48. There were two steeple-chases; a rider was thrown in each, but neither much hurt.

THE SUSPENSION OF BUCHANAN, HOPE & CO.

The suspension of the firm of BUCHANAN, HOPE & Co. has ceased to be so much talked about. It is now said that the business will be resumed by one of the parties of the firm, and that no very serious loss will result. The banks have not suffered so much as was expected, but there is little doubt that many country establishments will be affected by the suspension. The Glasgow house had no direct connection with either of the houses in Canada, each having a separate firm. Hon. ISAAC BUCHANAN is the oldest member of the firms now living, the head of the establishments, Mr. PETER BUCHANAN, having died some years since. No other failures have occurred in any part of Ontario or Quebec since the stoppage of payment by the concern in question.

THE EXTRADITION OF CRIMINALS.

The readiness with which the authorities of Watertown, N. Y., gave up the Kingston murderers, has led to an act on the part of the Kingston authorities which is likely to get them into trouble. An escaped convict from Clinton State Prison, named JOHN MCGEE, was arrested two days ago, in Kingston, and taken from the Police-station by the County Attorney and a detective, and by them forced on board a steamer, and taken over to Cape Vincent. Such a proceeding is illegal, and amounts to a case of kidnapping, for MCGEE could not have been returned to the United States, even by process of extradition, as his case does not come under the treaty. This is worse than the Lamirande affair, for there was something done to show that the case came under the treaty. An investigation will have to be made into the matter. For a similar case, which occurred in this city some years ago, a very heavy fine was imposed upon the abductors.

MARINE DISASTER.

Loss of a Fishing Vessel and a Crew of Seventeen Men—Safe Robbery.

PORTLAND, Me., Monday, Oct. 14.

A special dispatch to the Star this morning gives the following:

CALAIS, Monday, Oct. 14.

A Castine fishing vessel was lost on the New-Brunswick coast last Monday, and Capt. SYLVESTER, of Deer Island, and the crew, (seventeen in number,) were drowned. The vessel was built and owned in common by the crew. Nine of the men leave families.

VIRGINIA.

Republican Meeting at Richmond—Delegates to the Constitutional Convention.

RICHMOND, Va., Monday, Oct. 14.

The City Republican Convention met at Capitol-square at 12 o'clock to-day, and was organized by the election of JAMES HAYES (white) as President.

The names of the candidates nominated at the meeting on Saturday night, J. W. Hunnicutt, Judge John C. Underwood and James Morrissey, (white,) and Lewis Lindsey and James Cox (colored) were then separately announced and voted upon. The result was their unanimous nomination as delegates to the Constitutional Convention.

The meeting was one of the largest ever held on the square, and the greater portion of the colored population were present. Tobacco factories and other establishments, where large numbers of negroes are employed, had to close for the day to give them an opportunity to attend. There were fewer white people than usual present. It is said the greater portion of the white people and the moderate colored intend making other nominations; that they will not support the Hunnicutt ticket. The ex-officers and soldiers party did not take part. The Convention will not vote the ticket nominated, but will form one of their own.

After the nominations were made, each candidate was called and signified his acceptance, except Judge UNDERWOOD, who is absent from the city. Speeches were made of the proscriptive order, Mr. MORRISSEY, an Irishman, declaring that he would vote in Convention to disfranchise every foreigner that aided the rebellion, while HUNNICUTT favors not only disfranchising all that Congress has disfranchised, but all ministers of the Gospel and editors who ever advocated secession or rebellion. It has been a gala day with the blacks and their wives.

The Dispatch learns by special telegrams that Dr. CHARLES IRVING, an old resident, and late Major in the First Virginia Cavalry, has been nominated for the Convention by the Conservatives of Amelia County, and JOHN C. WOODSON and JACOB N. LIGGITT, prominent members of the Bar, as Conservatives in Rockingham County.

Gen. SCHOFIELD returned here yesterday. His visit to the capital will not change the plan of reconstruction in this State.

A card will be published in the morning by the "Moderate Republicans," cautioning parties against pledging themselves to the ticket nominated to-day, as "intelligent respectable candidates" will be announced at once.

The Conservatives intend holding a meeting to organise and nominate a ticket for the city, and also one for the county, during the week.

A mass meeting of the Republicans at Chester confirmed the nomination of CHARLES H. PORTER, J. F. MADDOX and JAMES B. CARTER, for Powhattan and Chesterfield. The candidates made speeches, and much enthusiasm prevailed.

PHILADELPHIA, Monday, Oct. 14.

Another raid on the whisky stills was made to-day in Port Richmond, but the illicit distillers had in some way been warned, and a great number of stills had been removed and secreted. An immense quantity of mash, in hogsheads, was discovered and destroyed. Large crowds of women and children were in the neighborhood, but no disturbance occurred. The Marshal succeeded in finding sixteen stills which had been secreted, and these he confiscated.

POLITICAL AFFAIRS.

The President's Views of the Political Situation.

From the Washington Republican, Oct. 14.

On Saturday last a very large number of gentlemen, and quite a number of ladies, called upon the President—many to pay their respects. Among those who called on official business was Major-Gen. SCHOFIELD. A gentleman who had no official business with the President, but who, as a "Conservative Republican," merely made a friendly call, informs us that he found Mr. JOHNSON in a very agreeable mood. He discoursed quite freely upon the political situation. He did not seem to be surprised by the result of the recent elections. He referred to the fact that in several of his printed speeches he had said that the people would, in good time, teach their public servants the right way; that the people could be trusted, &c. "They often exhibit more wisdom," he remarked, "than Presidents, Congresses or conventions." His attention was called to an analysis of the recent election in Ohio, where two great parties presented each its ticket. The people looked at them both discriminately, and took the soldier standard-bearer (HAYES) of the Republican Party, thus seemingly rebuking the Democrats for nominating a Valandigham man like THURMAN, instead of a soldier, and accepted and elected the Legislature of the Democratic and Conservative Party to prevent the reëlection of a Radical, like Mr. WADE—thus repudiating the two extremes in politics; and then at the same election they buried the disturbing question of negro equality beneath a majority of fifty thousand votes! The President listened to this statement, and said:

"It is a remarkable fact. It is the logic of events. It is the true lesson of the election. And what makes the fact still more remarkable is that this wonderful discrimination was made by the people themselves at the polls, and that these extraordinary results were obtained in the face of the misrepresentations that were constantly made in the Press and upon the stump, and furthermore that the Government of the State was in the hands of the Radicals, and the treasure of their wealthy men was poured out like water to aid them in carrying the State. The people have conquered in spite of these appliances, and have pointed out the right way for others, disregarding the two dangerous extremes, and taking the safe, high, conservative ground as laid down in the August Philadelphia Convention of 1866 upon the Constitution, for the preservation of the States, and in favor of pure loyalty and a united and free country."

During this conversation, a very brief synopsis of which we have given, the President remarked that he thought the lesson taught by the people of Ohio, as indicated above, was correct, and he had been and should be guided by it. He said the thousand and one reports set afloat about what he was about to do in reorganizing his Cabinet were unauthorized and untrue. Whatever he did in that direction would be the subject of careful thought and for the best interests of the public good so far as it was in his power to reach such a result.

Ex-President Buchanan on the Political Situation.

Correspondence of the New-Orleans Picayune.

LANCASTER, Penn., Sept. 27, 1867.

This city is especially noted for being the residence of ex-President JAMES BUCHANAN and THAD. STEVENS. Yesterday I visited the former at his residence, Wheatland, which is situated a mile west of the city. His home is a plain old fashioned brick house, with a large doorway and hall in the centre. A small portico is before the door and steps lead up to it from three sides. The house is plainly but very substantially and comfortably furnished, and there is nothing offensive to the visitor in any of the surroundings. The lawn occupies eight or ten acres before the house, and is beautifully garnished with stately oaks and smaller trees and shrubs. It is assiduously cared for by careful hands, and wears an air of comfort and modest simplicity that accords well with the habits and manners of the proprietor. All the surroundings, however, indicate that affluence, ease and comfort are enjoyed by the great man who makes his home within its precincts. Mr. BUCHANAN has absolutely retired from politics and does not take any interest in the policies and actions of parties. He says they have gone beyond his comprehension, and as his counsels are not of any avail, he does not mingle or exert any influence. He thinks that the exigencies of the times demanded of him an explanation of his actions and the effects of his administration, hence the necessity of his book; and in it he effectually settles every point, justifies his conduct, and rests contented in the consciousness of having done only what was demanded of him as an honest ruler and faithful magistrate. The present distracted condition of the country and the unhappy position of affairs in the South distresses him, as it does every lover of his country; but a fanatical party has the power to rule in its hands and he cannot see the result. It certainly is not progress that it aims at, for destruction seems to follow everything it touches. He thinks that the terms that were agreed on by Gens. JOE JOHNSTON and SHERMAN at the time of the surrender were the wisest that could have been followed.

Mr. BUCHANAN has been very feeble latterly. He lives very retired, and is enjoying as much as possible the utter quiet and rest necessary to a mellow old age. He is exceedingly affable and genial to visitors, and very fond of chatting with them when his health allows. He expresses the kindliest wishes toward Southern people, and earnestly extends to them his good will, and hopes that they may quickly be relieved from their distress, and become prosperous and happy.

Gov. Brownlow's Inaugural Address.

GOV. BROWNLOW's message was printed in some of the papers of Tennessee previous to his inauguration. It was accordingly communicated to the State Legislature before the inaugural. Extracts from the message were printed in the TIMES of Friday morning last. The inaugural, as read by the Governor's Secretary on Thursday, is as follows:

GENTLEMEN OF THE SENATE AND HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES: What is dignified or undignified, appropriate or ill-timed, in the matter of an inaugural address, the manner of its delivery, or its length or brevity, are all mere matters of taste on the part of those who hear and criticise documents of this kind, and are usually passed upon in accordance with the likes or dislikes of the confirmed partisan. Therefore, in the brief address which I propose to deliver on this occasion, I intend to be governed by my own convictions of what is proper, and by the feeble condition of my health. In a document of a different character, already laid before you, I shall confine myself to a brief review of the principal interests of the State, and direct your attention to such recommendations as their needs have suggested.

Grateful to the people of Tennessee for the honor of a second election to the office of Chief Magistrate of the State, I assume the trust, deeply impressed with the grave responsibilities which it imposes upon me. I am the more grateful for having obtained a larger majority than has been given to any man in the State since its organization, and in one of the most bitter and unrelenting conflicts we have ever had, in which the opposition were led by unscrupulous traitors on the stump, backed by a venal Press, and both acting upon the assumption that "a lie well stuck to is as good as the truth." My election by so great a majority, and over the head of such opposition, I do not regard as a compliment alone to me, but as an indorsement of the principles represented by my nomination.

And here I will take occasion to say that the only party organization in the Union, guided and controlled by men up with the advanced ideas of the times, and the paramount obligations of all patriots to the Union, is the great Republican Party. Its wisdom, patriotism, patience and forbearance, all stand out in bold relief in the noble legislation of the American Congress during the past five years of our history, and in the equally noble legislation of Tennessee during the past two years, in the face of opposition both fierce and formidable. In a word, the Republicans propose no monopoly; they advocate no titled aristocracy; no distinction on account of race or color; no privileged Phariseeism; they withhold no just rights, only forfeited rights, protecting alike every class, guarding, with a jealous eye, the preservation of the Union.

Tennessee is the only stronghold Republicanism has in the South; her Executive, Legislative, and Judiciary Departments being loyal, have contributed in their turn to the great work recently accomplished. And well they might, for the conflict involved the safety of the noble Union men who stood firm in the hour of danger—the safety of the colored race—the chances of a civilization for the South—and the future prosperity of our gallant old State, as well as the influence of her vote in the next Presidential election. The Tennessee elections, just over, mark a new dispensation in the political affairs of the South. The Rebel-Democratic Party goes to pieces; the Republican-Union Party looms up in bold relief as the party entitled to the confidence and regard of the whole country. This Conservative Party which has, during its career, advocated no more men and no more money to carry on an "abolition war"—a universal amnesty for traitors—secession and foreign interference—now openly advocates the repudiation of the national debt, and it only remains for it to advocate polygamy, in order to have sounded every known depth of political infamy.

I have witnessed with regret, in different localities in this State, a disposition to proscribe Northern men and to drive them from the country. I do not enter into this spirit, nor will I administer the executive branch of the State Government upon any such principle. If men are good enough to come to Tennessee and encounter the cold and heat and mud and rains of our climate, and face rebel bullets in putting down the rebellion, they are good enough, when qualified, to fill offices of honor and trust. We want Northern capital—Northern enterprise; and to get all this, I, for one, am willing to take a fair proportion of Northern politicians. But I yield to no man in my contempt for that class of Northern men who come among us, and, for the sake of position and patronage, abandon their honest sentiments and become rebel sympathizers.

Gentlemen, in the feeble state of my health, I shall expect your kind indulgence and generous coöperation; while I ask that as few burdens be imposed upon me as the public interests may allow. Mutually seeking the public good, let us accept every responsibility which our respective positions impose.

Imploring for your guidance the favor of a merciful God, which has never withheld from lawmakers whose course is shaped solely by the conceptions He gives them of right and duty, I conclude with a sentiment which I trust may inspire all our actions—the union of the Republican Party for the sake of the Union.

The Suffrage Question in Ohio.

From the Cleveland Leader.

The Constitutional Amendment is defeated. The next Legislature, being Democratic, will not propose a similar one. Therefore no amendment to strike the word "white" out of the State Constitution can be submitted to the people until the election for Governor and Legislature in 1871, as the Constitution provides that amendments to the popular vote shall be submitted only at elections at which members of the Assembly were to be chosen. But, under the Constitution, the question whether a Constitutional Convention to revise, alter and amend the Constitution, shall be held, will be submitted to the people at the election of 1871. As the present Constitution is seriously defective in many respects, such a Convention will doubtless be voted for by both parties. In that case, according to the Constitution, the Legislature elected at that election "shall provide, by law, for the election of delegates and the assembling of such Convention." All amendments to the Constitution adopted by a Constitutional Convention must be submitted to the people and adopted by a majority of those voting thereon, before they are part of the Constitution. We presume, therefore, that this question will go over until the Constitutional Convention of 1871, which we propose to make an Equal Suffrage Convention.

Indiana Democratic State Convention.

The call has been issued for the Indiana Democratic State Convention, to be held in Indianapolis on the 8th of January, 1868, to elect delegates to a National Democratic Convention, and to select candidates for Presidential electors for the State of Indiana. The call closes as follows:

Resolved, That the Democratic State Committee of Indiana send congratulations to the Democracy and Conservatives of Connecticut, Kentucky, California, Maine, Pennsylvania and Ohio on the occasion of the late brilliant political victories in those States; that we regard these results as the reflex of enlightened popular opinion in all the free commonwealths not entirely abandoned to the control of fanaticism and the domination of sectional hate, and as the dawning of the day when the country shall have a restored Union, on the basis of the white man's rule, payment and redemption of our national bonds according to law, and equal taxation on all and every species of property within the States. Indiana will join the hosts of the redeemed States in 1868.

W. H. TALBOTT, Chairman.

The Kentucky Legislature and United States Taxes.

The Washington correspondent of the Boston Post telegraphs to that paper the following:

Hon. JESSE D. BRIGHT announces that the Kentucky Legislature will consider the propriety of passing a law making it a penal offence for any one to attempt to collect a Federal tax within the limits of that State until she is admitted to a representation on the floor of Congress.

The New Register of the Treasury.

From the Burlington (Vt.) Times, Oct. 14.

We see it stated in several Republican papers that Gen. NOAH L. JEFFRIES, who has been appointed successor to the late STODDARD B. COLBY as Register of the Treasury, was an active supporter of MCCLELLAN and PENDLETON against LINCOLN, and it is fair to presume now supports PENDLETON's policy of repudiation. We have good authority for denying this statement. Gen. JEFFRIES is an Ohioan and served throughout the Peninsula campaign with great credit, having been so severely wounded as to make him almost a cripple for the remainder of his days. We knew him in the fall of 1862 as Provost-Marshal on Gen CASEY's staff at Washington, a position he filled with great courtesy and ability. Early in 1863 he was transferred to the staff of Gen. SCHENCK, then commander at Baltimore, and has been stationed in that city ever since. In his politics the General was a staunch Unionist, and voted for Mr. LINCOLN in 1864. What political position he may have taken since Mr. JOHNSON's change of base we do not know.

FORT PILLOW.

A Few Facts from an Eye-Witness—Reply to the Letter of Gen. Forrest.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

I notice an article from N. B. FORREST, published in many of the leading papers of the country, wherein he censures a correspondent of your paper for making certain statements relative to "the Fort Pillow affair." Now, it so happens, that I participated in the defence of Fort Pillow, and a decent respect to the memory of the brave men who fell around me upon that occasion impels me to beg of you sufficient space in your columns to bear witness to the truth of many of the statements made by your correspondent, as well, also, as to take a brief review of the "Card from Gen. FORREST."

This type of Southern "chivalry" has indeed the assurance to refer to the report of the Congressional Investigating Committee, of which Vice-President WADE was the Chairman, to substantiate one of his statements. Has he forgotten that the report of that Committee substantiated in every respect the fact of the horrid barbarity practiced by his troops against the Federal soldiers after capture? In the words of the report itself, alluding to the action of FORREST and his demons, immediately after the capture of the fort, "Then followed a scene of cruelty and murder without a parallel in civilized warfare, which needed but the tomahawk and scalping-knife to exceed the worst atrocities ever committed by savages."

Another portion of said report reads as follows:

"The testimony also establishes the fact that the rebels buried some of the living with the dead. And even when your Committee visited the spot, two weeks afterward, although parties of men had been sent on shore from time to time to bury the bodies unburied, and rebury the others, and were even then engaged in the same work, we found the evidences of this murder and cruelty still most painfully apparent; we saw bodies still unburied (at some distance from the fort) of some sick men who had been met fleeing from the hospital and beaten down and brutally murdered, and their bodies left where they had fallen. We could still see the faces, hands, and feet of men, white and black, protruding out of the ground, whose graves had not been reached by those engaged in reinterring the victims of the massacre; and although a great deal of rain had fallen within the preceding two weeks, the ground, more especially on the side and at the foot of the bluff where the most of the murders had been committed, was still discolored by the blood of our brave but unfortunate men, and the logs and trees showed but too plainly the evidences of the atrocities perpetrated there.

Many other instances of equally atrocious cruelty might be enumerated, but your Committee feel compelled to refrain from giving here more of the heart-sickening details, and refer to statements contained in the voluminous testimony herewith submitted. Those statements were obtained by them from eye-witnesses and sufferers; many of them, as they were examined by your Committee, were lying upon beds of pain and suffering, some so feeble that their lips could with difficulty frame the words by which they endeavored to convey some idea of the cruelties which had been inflicted on them, and which they had seen inflicted on others."

If the honorable, high-minded chivalrous FORREST finds any consolation in perusing the report he refers to, and of which the foregoing are extracts, I am certainly at a loss to discern from whence he derives it.

But the "honorable" gentleman asserts that he captured and can account for more than 300 of the garrison. Verily, he did capture more than 450, and doubtless can account for all of them, and if said account be truthfully rendered it will show more than three-fourths of this number killed after the surrender.

In view of these facts, it seems decidedly cool, to say the least, to one who, like the writer, received a portion of the boasted "hospitality" and "chivalry" of the Southern people, and who is yet obliged to carry an ounce of rebel lead which he received after the surrender, to hear this chivalrous son of the South, with an air of injured innocence, prating about his sense of honor and character as a man and as a soldier."

Not desiring in the least degree to be egotistic, or to subject myself to that charge, I deem it proper here to state the rank and position that I held at the time of the capture of Fort Pillow, in order the better to enable the public to judge of the opportunities which I had of knowing the facts as regards the Fort Pillow affair—if I may be allowed to use so mild an expression—and for no other cause. I was First Lieutenant and Adjutant of the Thirteenth West Tennessee Cavalry, commanded by Major W. F. BRADFORD. Major BRADFORD commanded the garrison most of the day, Major L. F. BOOTH, who was the ranking officer, having been killed about 9 A. M.

As Post Adjutant I had charge of the correspondence which took place under the flag of truce sent in by FORREST about 3 o'clock P. M. relative to the surrender of the garrison. That correspondence, as published in the report of the Congressional Investigating Committee, is substantially correct with but one exception, viz., it omitted to state the threats which FORREST actually made in both his communications, in these words, to wit, "If this demand is not complied with, you must take the consequences." Having confidence in our ability to hold the fort until reinforcements arrived, we refused to surrender, never dreaming that pending the negotiations under the flag of truce, FORREST, by violating all rules of civilized warfare, had treacherously gained positions from which he could successfully assault our works. This, however, proved only the prelude to the chapter of horrid atrocities which he and his friends had in store for the Federal garrison after its capture. That the massacre of our troops which followed was deliberately premeditated and planned, I believe, as I believe in the existence of a just God, who will punish the perpetrators of this wholesale murder of unarmed and many of them wounded men. I was myself deliberately shot down after I had surrendered, and while lying on the field where I fell saw a number of wounded men deliberately shot. All this occurred after the fort was in entire possession of the rebels, and when our men had entirely ceased to offer resistance.

These atrocities were renewed early the following morning, when two unarmed, helpless wounded Federal soldiers were shot within thirty feet of where I was lying at the time. I at the same time heard shooting going on all round the fort, but this occurred in my immediate sight and locality.

In conclusion I would only say that I have by no means a desire to present my personal wrongs and sufferings before the public, and but for the fact that I am the only surviving officer of my regiment—the only regiment of white troops that participated in the defence of Fort Pillow—I should have remained silent upon this occasion.

MACK J. LEAMING.

Liberal Gift to a Massachusetts Educational Institution.

At a meeting of the Trustees of the Worcester County Free Institute of Industrial Science, which was held in Worcester, Mass., on the 10th inst., announcement was made that the President of the Institute, Hon. STEPHEN SALISBURY, had made the munificent donation of $50,000 to its fund. In his letter to the Trustees Mr. SALISBURY says that the change in the value of money has so impaired the efficiency of the fund, which JOHN BOYNTON, Esq., gave as the foundation of this Institute, that the citizens of Worcester cannot have that confidence in the financial strength of the enterprise which is needed to invite assistance and coöperation, and to insure success. To remove this difficulty in some degree, and to encourage contributions from others, which will hereafter be desirable and necessary, he gives the above amount. Ex-Gov. WASHBURN, one of the Trustees, describes the Institute and its objects as follows:

A gentleman, now deceased, who, though uneducated, had by the prosecution of a mechanical trade accumulated a handsome estate, proposed to place in the hands of certain persons the sum of $100,000, for the purpose of founding an institution to supply a practical education for those who did not intend to pursue a collegiate course of instruction. The want of a school, where young men could prepare themselves to take charge of departments in manufacturing, in mechanical establishments, in the working of iron, the process of bleaching, printing, &c., and, in short, in the various forms of applied science, was so obvious, that a plan for that object was at once suggested, and met with the approval of the donor. The scheme found favor at once; individuals came forward and contributed some $50,000 for the erection of the necessary building; and another gentleman, of distinguished liberality, himself a mechanic, proposed to unite with the principal institution a machine-shop fitted with all the necessary engines and apparatus, to be superintended by a man of competent science and skill. And to this end he contributed what amounts, in all probability, to from $60,000 to $75,000, while another distinguished friend of progress and liberal learning has contributed land and moneys for the completion of the buildings, some $30,000 or more. So that the institution will commence with certain and assured funds and property of $250,000 or more. The institution has been incorporated, and the requisite buildings are in great forwardness. It is to be an entirely free institute, and is intended to embrace the several departments of practical science which such a scheme would reasonably require, such as chemistry, natural philosophy, embracing mechanics, hydraulics, metallurgy, &c.—mathematics in their practical applications, &c.

THE WESTFIELD, MASS., RIOT.

The State Constables Attacked by a Mob—A Rioter Shot and Killed—The Constables Arrested on the Charge of Murder.

From the Springfield (Mass.) Republican, Oct. 14.

One of the most serious riots that ever occurred in law-abiding New-England, took place in Westfield, Saturday night, and resulted in the death of one of the citizens of the town. The cause of the disturbance was a well planned and skilfully executed raid upon a notorious gambling den, the raiders being a party of State constabulary, under the direction of Deputy SAMUEL CHAPIN, of this city, who claims that the killing was plainly an act of self-defence on his part. The constables, arriving at Westfield about 11 o'clock, saw lights in the room in the second story of the old "Park House," where they supposed gambling was going on. About 11:15 the constables, unheralded and unexpected, went quietly up the front stairs into the building. There were two doors between the stairway and the room where the gamblers were at play, but both were at this time open. They passed in at the first unheard, but before they could reach the second the gamblers got wind of their near approach and suddenly slammed the inside door in their faces. The constables, however, pushed open the door by force and found themselves in the midst of a very lively scene. When the constables first entered the rooms as many as fifteen or sixteen were there, but before the officers could make the arrests half of them, including FOSTER, the proprietor of the place, escaped by going out upon a sloping wooden piazza, and jumping thence to the ground. Eight, however, were secured, and with them some 300 "chips," a cue-keeper and other implements, comprising the complete outfit of a faro bank in full blast.

Meantime the gamblers who had escaped spread the news of the raid, and by personal exertions and by ringing the fire-bell on the engine-house near by, called together a crowd which constantly grew larger and larger, while the excitement increased in a corresponding degree. Before there was any disturbance, JOHN H. BROOKS, the man who was subsequently killed, came up stairs into the room and said to Constable CHAPIN that the proprietor of the place was a poor man and that he ought not to take away his "bank." Mr. CHAPIN replied that FOSTER had a chance to get back the implements from the Courts. BROOKS appeared angry, but made no particular reply. As he went down, a man who had accompanied him (a stranger to Mr. CHAPIN) whispered very slyly in Mr. CHAPIN's ear, "Better look out for yourself or they'll take your life!" A few minutes later BROOKS came up again and told CHAPIN that Mr. FOSTER, the trial Justice, would be willing that he (BROOKS) should take care of the gaming implements. Mr. CHAPIN replied decidedly that he couldn't permit any such arrangement, when BROOKS seemed very much offended and swore roundly at the Constables. The same man who had warned Mr. CHAPIN before was with BROOKS this time, and again told the constable to look out for himself, as serious trouble was brewing.

BROOKS then went down stairs and set on the mob. Brickbats came flying in at the windows uncomfortably thick and fast, while the crowd yelled "Bring them out!" "Hang the constables!" and the gas was suddenly turned off, leaving Constables, prisoners and Justice in darkness.

The turning off of the gas was the signal for fresh volleys of brickbats, some of which were thrown with such force as to go smashing through a wooden partition. Several of the men inside were hit and severely bruised. Taking advantage of a flurry during which most of the crowd (now augmented to nearly 500 men and boys) had gone into the rear of the building, as it was reported that the officers were leaving by the back stairs, the Constables and their prisoners went down the front entrance, but had no sooner opened the door than a man who was apparently on the watch shouted, "Here they are." The crowd got the word in an instant, and commenced a grand rush through an alley for the front of the building. From this time the throwing of bricks was continuous, and Mr. CHAPIN, who was in front, was struck in the face and several times in other parts of the body. Mr. CHAPIN, thinking that he was overwhelmed, retreated temporarily to a place two doors south, and was going up an outside stairway, when a man stopped him with the entreaty, "For God's sake, don't come in here; this is a boarding-house." In quicker time than it takes to read about it, the crowd were in front of the building again, shouting, amid a Babel of yells. As they rushed in a mass toward him, Constable CHAPIN shouted to them, "I order you to disperse, in the name of the Commonwealth!" at the same time drawing his pistol. This had no effect upon the crowd, who closed in around him, while pistol shots began to be heard among them. The Constables then told their prisoners that they might take care of themselves, as it was evident that they could not hold them longer.

Believing that his life was in peril, Mr. CHAPIN fired. He directed his first shot at a man who was then preparing to hurl a brickbat at him, and subsequently fired three more shots, in each case at men who had an arm raised to throw a brick. He did not know whether the shots hit any one, but was aware that they had a salutary effect. The crowd saw that it was getting dangerous for them as well as the constable, and ceased to advance and quieted down very suddenly. During this temporary lull, the constables were able to get together again, and, by the assistance of one of the men whom they had arrested, escaped by a roundabout way into Canal-street. On this street a man fired deliberately at Mr. CHAPIN, but did not hit him. The constables encountered no further violence, but found that their horses had been spirited away, and they accordingly started on foot and walked ten miles to this city.

Meantime the crowd were aware—though the constables were not—that one of the shots fired by Constable CHAPIN or some one in the crowd, (no other constable fired any,) had taken effect in the thigh of JOHN H. BROOKS. The main artery was severed and BROOKS bled to death in a short time. The result very naturally made the excitement still more intense, and BROOKS' brother immediately swore out a warrant before Justice FOWLER against all four of the constables, for murder. The warrant was placed in the hands of Deputy Sheriff L. B. WALKLEY, who drove to this city and arrested Mr. CHAPIN about 4 o'clock Sunday morning. Mr. CHAPIN assisted Mr. WALKLEY in finding Constables BILLINGS and WELLMAN, and the three were committed to the care of Sheriff BUSH at the jail. Constable FLAGG was informed yesterday afternoon, at his residence in Wilbraham, that he was wanted, and came in last night and delivered himself up. JOHN H. BROOKS, the victim of the riot, was born in England, and was about forty-five years old. He leaves a wife and one child. BROOKS' character has for a long time been bad. He was convicted several years ago of robbing a bank in the eastern part of the State, and sentenced to five years in the State Prison, though he was pardoned before serving his full term, and it is claimed there never was other than circumstantial evidence against him, and poor at that. He has lived in Westfield for the past ten or twelve years, keeping a gambling house part of the time and a liquor saloon the rest, his business at the time of his death being that of rumseller. He frequently drank to intoxication himself, and was not highly respected in the community, though he had many generous qualities which secured him warm friends among his associates.

The State Constables Admitted to Bail.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Monday, Oct. 14.

The State Constables who were attacked by the mob at Westfield on Saturday night, have all been admitted to bail in $5,000 each, and are held for trial on a charge of manslaughter.

A Venerable Suit Decided.

From the Albany Argus, Oct. 14.

A decision has just been made by the Court of Appeals, in a case in which the papers were served by Judge CHEEVER in the year 1827. The case involved a right of dower, and the property in debate increased twenty-five times its value at the commencement of the litigation. Forty years at law seems an unhappy destiny for a suitor, but there is at least this poor consolation, that the end of the case has at length arrived, unless, forsooth, some infatuated party determines to try another venture upon the vast ocean of law. STRANG was executed in 1827, we believe, and his trial and death were long since a grandmother's story. At the opening of this suit the Constitution of 1821 had just got fairly to work, and it is over twenty years since that effete document, then twenty years old, was supplanted by another code of fundamental law, which, in its turn, is now getting ready to die or grow better. The old Court of Chancery and the old Supreme Court have been swept out of existence, and the litigation concludes under a system which would have been jeered and scoffed at as the offspring of insanity in the days when it began.

Fatal Accident at Chatham.

From the Albany Journal, Oct. 12.

By a dispatch received here to-day, we learn that Hon. JAMES G. VAN VALKENBERGH was almost instantly killed to-day by a yoke of cattle running away with him, breaking his neck. Mr. VAN VALKENBERGH had many friends in this city, who will deeply mourn this sad event. He was a member of Assembly in 1859, and has always been an active politician. He has been devotedly attached to the Republican Party since its organization.

THE CITY CHAMBERLAIN.

The Duties and Emoluments of the Office—Letter from the Citizens' Association.

CITIZENS' ASSOCIATION OF NEW-YORK,
No. 813 BROADWAY, Oct. 14, 1867.

Peter B. Sweeney, Esq., City Chamberlain and County Treasurer of the City and County of New-York:

DEAR SIR: The Citizens' Association respectfully calls your attention to the following:

By Section 11 of the Charter of the City of New-York a bureau is created in the Department of Finance "for the reception of all moneys paid into the treasury of the City, and for the payment of all moneys therefrom on the warrants drawn by the Comptroller and countersigned by the Mayor and Clerk of the Common Council," and it is further provided that "the chief officer there shall be called the 'Chamberlain of the City of New-York.'"

By Section 6 of the act of 1857 relating to the Board of Supervisors of this County it is provided that "the Finance Department of the Mayor, Aldermen and Commonalty of the City of New-York and its officers shall have the like powers and perform the like duties in regard to the fiscal concerns of said Board as they possess in regard to the local concerns of the said Mayor, Aldermen and Commonalty." You are the City Chamberlain and by virtue of such office, County Treasurer also.

Your duties as such officer consist in receiving the moneys paid into the treasury of the City and County, and in disbursing the same upon the Comptroller's warrants; but in fact these duties are limited to opening an account with the Broadway Bank, where you deposit the public money.

The bank keeps the accounts and the City and County warrants drawn upon you are nothing more nor less than checks upon your account in the Broadway Bank.

In the opinion of this Association these duties are by no means onerous. In the year 1866 the salary of the City Chamberlain was $10,000.

You were appointed City Chamberlain in the early part of the present year. The City Tax Levy Law of 1867 also allows you as Chamberlain a salary of $10,000.

The Association submits that such salary was ample, and should have been satisfactory to yourself, and it cannot but regret that you had inserted in the County Tax Levy Law of 1867 a provision giving the County Treasurer a salary equal to that of the City Chamberlain, namely, a salary of $10,000. It should be stated that this provision was inserted in the County Tax Levy Law during the last hours of the session, and was passed, certainly in the Senate, with no actual knowledge that the City Chamberlain and the County Treasurer were one and the same individual.

Nor is this all. The City Chamberlain receives some $2,000 annually for paying over the money of the State, and also an annual allowance of $1,000 as one of the Commissioners of the Sinking Fund. It is respectfully suggested that an annual salary of $23,000 (only $2,000 less than that of the President of the United States) should be considered sufficient compensation for the mere receipt and disbursement of the public funds.

The Association calls your attention to the current report that for a number of years it has been the custom of the Bank (in which the City and County funds have been deposited) to allow the City Chamberlain 3 or 3½ per cent. upon the average deposits, the per centage amounting in the course of the year to some $170,000.

As the City Chamberlain under the general definition of trusts is a trustee of the funds in his hands for the benefit of the Mayor, Aldermen and Commonalty of the City of New-York, and the people of the county, the Association would call your attention to the law governing trustees.

The leading case in England is that of Ratcliffe vs. Graves in the High Court of Chancery in 1683, in which it is settled that a trustee ought not make a gain out of the trust property, but should manage it for the exclusive benefit of the cestui que trust. No profit, gain or advantage shall be derived by the trustee from the trust. All the gain must go to the cestui que trust.

This rule secures fidelity and removes temptation. Lord LOUGHBOROUGH, in quoting this decision, approved it, and used this pointed language: "The system of allowing a trustee to collect and keep interest on the money in his hands would make the office of trustee canvassed for."

The decision in that case has been steadily followed in England.

The same principle has been inflexibly adhered to in this State.

1815—Dunscomb vs. Dunscomb, 1 Johnson, ch. R. 508.

1815—Manning vs. Manning, 1 Johnson, ch. R., 527.

Although it is true the Chamberlain, as such, would not be justified in investing the money received by him either for the benefit of the City or County, yet whatever percentage or profit is allowed to him by the bank for the deposit of the City and County funds belongs to the City and the County of New-York and not to the Chamberlain. Certainly the law would not tolerate that the Chamberlain should receive and keep to his own use some $170,000 annual profit upon the City and County funds, while it makes him the ample allowance of $23,000 per year for his services in the keeping and disbursement of the money.

The fact that no proceedings have as yet been taken by the City or the county to recover for their use the profit or percentage which the Chamberlain has received upon their funds is no excuse or justification for him to retain such profit, whether received directly or indirectly. The apathy on the part of the City and county officials is easily accounted for, but this neglect on their part should not give rise to the impression that our people are without a remedy in the premises.

An upright official should only seek to know his duty, and should perform it faithfully and cheerfully.

The Association trusts that, as a member of the bar, you will recognise the force of the principle that a trustee is not allowed to make any profit for himself from the trust funds in his hands.

Without adverting to the legal position of your predecessors and the gains they may have made out of the deposits of public moneys, we desire thus to draw your attention to the right of the City and county in respect to the income or profit of the large deposits in the bank to their credit. It is clear that such deposits are a source of immense profit to the bank, and that the tax-payers are entitled to the benefit arising directly and indirectly from the use of the deposited funds.

No business man can entertain the idle supposition that the bank does not gain interest on the moneys in its hands, nor seriously doubt that it would be willing to pay a part of such interest as an inducement to the making and continuing of the deposits. A firm or a private corporation having so large a deposit would deem it just to arrange for some share of the returns of interest, and you, as the financial officer of the City and County, controlling this matter, doubtless have it in your power to secure to your principals a large yearly sum in consideration of such deposits.

We wish to remind you, early in your administration, that all such gains, rewards and considerations, which may proceed from the bank, belong to your principals and not to yourself, and to request your attention to this matter as one within the cognizance of courts of equity.

The comparative leisure, in which the easy functions of your office leave you, is favorable to your early notice of the public claim which we hereby make. The Association would also call your attention to the large balances of public funds kept on hand at no interest to the public, while the City and County are obliged to borrow money paying seven per cent. interest therefor. This system of keeping large balances on hand cannot fail to create the impression that it arises from interested motives.

Having thus placed the subject before you, we wait to learn whether the City and County are to profit by the great advantages arising to the Bank from the deposits.

Trusting to receive an early reply, we remain,
Very respectfully,
PETER COOPER,
Chairman Citizens' Association.
RICHARD M. HENRY, Secretary.

POLICE COURTS.

THE TOMBS—DOWLING, JUSTICE.

EMBEZZLEMENT.

Capt. JOURDAN, of the Sixth Precinct, arrested WARREN M. KIP yesterday on a charge of embezzlement. It appears that the accused was employed by the American Express Company, at No. 124 Broadway, as a collector of bills, and he has been in the habit, during the past fortnight, of receiving various sums for express freight from the owners thereof or the agents of shipping lines, and failing to return the same to the Company. When arrested he freely confessed his guilt, and admitted having received sums varying from $5 to $40 from as many as forty-one different persons. When arraigned before the magistrate, Mr. CHARLES H. NELLS, General Superintendent of the American Express Company, made an affidavit against him, and he was remanded for further examination. The specific charge against the prisoner is that of receiving $39 60 from E. D. POND, freight agent on the pier at the foot of Fulton-street, East River, and not surrendering the amount to the proper persons acting for the Company. He is a young man of good appearance and address, and seemed cast down at the fate which had overtaken him.

JEFFERSON MARKET—DODGE, JUSTICE.

STEALING PICTURES.

PETER MCARDLE was arraigned before the magistrate yesterday on a charge of grand larceny, preferred by JOSEPH BROWN, of No. 686 Third-avenue, who accused PETER of stealing three lithographic prints, with black walnut frames, valued at $15. The prisoner obtained the pictures to sell on commission on the 17th of August, and was not seen again until Sunday, when he was arrested by Officer HARRIS, of the Eighteenth Precinct. JOHN LYNCH, of No. 462 Eighth-avenue, also made a complaint against MCARDLE for the same sort of offence, he having obtained two lithographs and frames on the 5th of August, and on the same terms. He was remanded for trial in default of $600 bail.

FALSE PRETENCES.

JAMES E. JOHNSON called on WM. H. KEMP of No. 23 Vestry-street, on the 7th inst., and obtained fifteen packs of gold-leaf valued at $149, giving KEMP a check for that amount on the New-York National Exchange Bank, dated one day ahead, and purporting to have been signed by one Thomas Everett. Mr. KEMP received the check as a genuine issue and deposited the same in the Peoples Bank for collection, but had it returned to him through the Clearing-house, as no such name appeared on the books of the Exchange Bank. The Magistrate committed JOHNSON for examination on a future day.

ESSEX MARKET—SHANDLEY, JUSTICE.

A COWARDLY ASSAULT.

WM. GRUTTEN was arrested by Officer ROBERTSON yesterday, on a charge of assault and battery preferred by BOWEN G. LORD, Jr., of No. 517 West Twenty-third-street, who saw the prisoner attempt to force a large stone into the mouth of JOHN DONNELLY, a boy whom he caught in the street. The accused was required to give bail to answer at the General Sessions, which was given by CLAUS FINKEN.

EXCISE CASES.

CARL WALTER, of No. 71 Suffolk-street, and SAMUEL O'DONNELL, of No. 69 Lewis-street, were arraigned on charges of having violated the Excise Law in selling liquor on the Sabbath. They were held for trial at the General Sessions.

Singular Attempt at Murder—Two Boys Probably Fatally Shot—Narrow Escape of a Third.

The inhabitants of the village of Saltersville, in the township of Greenville, N. J., were thrown into the greatest state of excitement on Saturday night by the cold-blooded attempt by a reckless young vagabond, named JAMES SPENCER, to murder three boys, JOHN H. S. THOMAS, CHAS. WAIT and JOSEPH SALTER, by shooting them. Two of the boys, THOMAS and WAIT, are very dangerously if not fatally wounded.

It appears that in the latter part of Saturday afternoon, young THOMAS, son of GEO. W. THOMAS, baker, aged 15 years, went out with a horse and wagon, accompanied by the two lads above named, to collect brushwood for kindling, and when returning home, on what is known as the New Road, SPENCER, armed with a shot-gun, emerged from a wood, jumped over the fence into the road, and, without the least provocation, shot them. Young WAIT received over twenty shot in the side, shoulder and head, one penetrating at the side of the eye and fell out of the front of the wagon, between the horse's heels and the whiffletree. Young THOMAS was struck by six shot, one penetrating the left side in the region of the heart, and one in the right eye, one on the forehead over each eye, and one in the left elbow, which caused him to fall over the wheel on to the ground. The boy SALTER escaped uninjured by dropping down behind some of the brush in the wagon, as SPENCER raised the gun to his shoulder to fire. The injured boys jumped up, and, in a bewildered state of mind, ran across the lots toward the village, until they were met by some citizens, who conveyed them to their homes, where medical aid was soon called in. Subsequently it appears that the perpetrator of the deed returned to his mother's house. The news of the occurrence spread rapidly, and people came flocking in from all parts of the village to learn the particulars. At first it was supposed that the shooting was the result of accident, but when it became known that the act was a deliberate one the people became greatly enraged, and this, in connection with the fact that young SPENCER is looked upon as a sort of an outlaw, led to a proposition from some of the more excited ones to resort to lynch law. Better counsels prevailed, however, and it was decided not to do any unlawful act. The next move was to secure the arrest of the culprit, and search was made for a constable, but none was to be found in the village, and none of the citizens present liked to take the responsibility of making the arrest without a warrant of law. A guard was accordingly placed around the house of the mother of the boy—whose name by second marriage is CRIPS—to prevent his escape, and a messenger was dispatched for Constable SIMONSON, living in another part of the town, and upon the arrival of that functionary he refused to "burn his fingers" by making the arrest without a warrant. Another delay ensued while the villagers were hunting up Justice SCHULTZ, who also lived out of town, and when the necessary papers were procured and the arrest made it was nearly midnight. The prisoner was immediately conveyed to the County Jail to await the result of the injuries.

STATEMENT OF JOHN H. S. THOMAS.

JOHN H. S. THOMAS, one of the wounded boys, made the following statement to our reporter yesterday morning:

On Saturday afternoon I was coming up the new road with a wagon-load of brush, and was accompanied by CHARLES WAIT and JOSEPH SALTER; we met SPENCER, who came out of the woods and got over the fence into the road; JOSEPH SALTER was talking to me and WAIT, when SPENCER said to him, "Shut up your gab, if you don't I'll shoot you;" he then pointed the gun at us, and I told him to point it the other way or it might go off and shoot us; he replied "I don't care, shut up your gab then;" then he cocked the gun, and I told him not to fire; then he fired; CHARLEY WAIT hollered "I'm killed," and fell between the horse's heels and whiffletree, and I fell over the wagon-wheel on the ground; I got through the fence followed by CHARLEY WAIT, when I fell into some water, but got up and run again to Mrs. ARNICK'S (colored) house, and got some water and washed my face; we then started and got part way home, when I met my father and he carried me the rest of the way; when we heard SPENCER cocking the gun SALTER threw himself down behind the brush and was not injured; SPENCER was twelve yards off when he fired; the gun was very heavily charged with bird and duck shot, about twenty-five of which struck the side of the wagon, and the brush-wood was literally riddled; SPENCER saw the boys coming in the wagon before they came opposite to him in the road, and a boy who was near by says he saw him put a handful of shot into the gun just before firing.

SPENCER is between 17 and 18 years of age, bears a very bad character and, it now appears, has twice before, within a short time, shot at boys. About two weeks since he fired at CHARLES WAIT, a brother of the wounded boy, but he escaped by jumping behind a tree which received the charge intended for him. A few days ago, he shot a chicken belonging to Mrs. MCGEE, and when she came out to remonstrate, he told her to shut up or he would shoot her. Previous to this occurrence, on Saturday, SPENCER was discharging his piece close by a negro woman's house when she came out and ordered him away, when he threatened to shoot some one, and turning around fired at her little boy "Billy Bus," putting five shot through the top of his hat, which was on his head. For the past nine years, the mother of the accused has resided in Virginia with her second husband, THOS. CRIPS, the accused being left with his grandfather at Saltersville. About three years ago young SPENCER was turned away by his grandfather for robbing his money drawer and was sent West, but ran away from there, and finally found his way to his mother's in Virginia, where he is said to have led a sort of wild bushwacking life. The family being in great distress there, the people of Salterville raised money to pay their way back, young SPENCER accompanying his mother, and her husband remaining. Mr. SALTER refused to subscribe to the fund, and the supposition is that SPENCER had an ill feeling against him, and intended to revenge himself by shooting his boy.

The two wounded boys are in a very critical condition, and the physicians give no hopes of the recovery of THOMAS. The shot that penetrated the eye is supposed to have passed to the back of the head, and it is feared that it will work up under the brain and cause brain fever. He also raised a great quantity of blood caused by the wound in the side.

The boy WAIT is much more dangerously injured than at first supposed, and it is feared will not recover. None of the shot have yet been extracted in either case.

The changes in the Bank statement from last Monday are generally slight and unimportant. The Money market for the present week opened steady at 7 ⅌ cent., at which rates the offerings to the Stock Brokers were quite free and even in excess of the demand up to 2 o'clock, after which some of the private lenders reported a better inquiry. The Gold Room fell off from 144⅜ to 143⅞ ⅌ cent., but subsequently returned to 144¼ ⅌ cent.; the speculation comparatively dull. The Foreign Exchanges, for the Scotia, sailing on Saturday, open on the basis of 109¼@109½ ⅌ cent. on London, 60 days and short sight for first-class bills.

The Public Funds were rather pressed on sale by some of the prominent dealers, and were especially heavy on the 7.30 ⅌ cents., although both series can now be converted to an unlimited amount at the Treasury Office on very favorable terms for the United States 5-20s of 1865 or 1867, July and January interest. The Government will allow the accumulated interest on the 7.30 ⅌ cent. Notes at the rate of 7.30, and charge 6 ⅌ cent. accumulated interest on the 5-20 Bonds, both in Currency, to the date of the exchange. The 7.30 ⅌ cents sold down to 105@105⅛, and interest added, this afternoon, and the 5-20s of 1865-7, July and January, at 106⅞, including interest. The old 5-20s of 1862 sold at 112 ⅌ cent.

The Railway market was very active throughout the day, and the speculation is taking the range of nearly the entire list of the New-York and Western list. A large business was done at all the Boards. Erie opened 74⅛@74, and went up to 75⅛@75¼ before 3 o'clock; but there was some reaction at a later hour, and the price fell off to 74⅞ ⅌ cent. The buyers of the stock operated with much confidence, accepting seller's contracts, at the option of the latter, to deliver in 60 days at 75@75¼ ⅌ cent. The Northwest Stocks advanced to 48 for the Common and 70 for the Preferred, and there was a renewed interest in Cleveland and Pittsburgh as high as 86⅞ ⅌ cent. The movement in Chicago and Rock Island was quite variable, 99⅛@99⅜@99⅞@99@98⅞ ⅌ cent., ex-dividend. Fort Wayne was higher than on Saturday, and New-York Central, St. Paul and Michigan Southern without particular change in price. Cleveland and Toledo advanced to 133⅜ ⅌ cent., and Hudson River to 129⅜ ⅌ cent. The Miscellaneous list was generally ⅛ ⅌ cent. higher; State Bonds 1 ⅌ cent. lower on Tennessees, new, and ½@1 ⅌ cent. higher on Missouris, with considerable transactions in both.

At 5 o'clock this afternoon the following quotations were made as compared with Saturday Afternoon. The Railways, after a market of unusual buoyancy and activity, left off somewhat lower in prices. The Public Funds steady at the reduced quotations. Gold fell back to 143⅞, and standard Bills, 60 days, on London were done at 109⅛ ⅌ cent.

The East and West Roads out of Chicago, of the Dividend class, are now enjoying a rich harvest of business, and have been in large receipts since the middle of August. We take three roads as examples—the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy, the Chicago, Alton and St. Louis, and the Chicago and Rock Island. The Stocks of the first two are not actively speculated in at the Stock Exchange. They have been absorbed by investors, and bear the handsome rates of 140 for the Chicago and Burlington and 125 for the Chicago and Alton. The first is now earning at the rate of 25@30 ⅌ cent. a year upon its Capital; the second at the rate of 15@18 ⅌ cent. ⅌ annum, its dividends being the same as the Rock Island, 10 ⅌ cent. a year in cash. The Rock Island is now earning at the average rate of 20 ⅌ cent.; but a part of the Stock being still speculated in on the Stock Exchange, inducing, whenever the general market looks at all weak, a bearish interest against it, the price is only 1@1½ ⅌ cent. below par. The net earnings of the Road were at the rate of 16 ⅌ cent. for the first six months of the current fiscal year of the Company, ending Sept. 30 ultimo. The interest and lease charges were paid out of the earnings of the first three months of this term. The 5 ⅌ cent. cash Dividend and 3 ⅌ cent. surplus carried to surplus income were made between the 1st July and 30th September, and chiefly after the effect of the new harvest began to tell on the traffic of the line in August. The net earnings for the stock for the current six months will, from present promises, prove to be at the rate of 24 ⅌ cent. a year, or 12 ⅌ cent. for the half-yearly Dividend term ending 31st March 1868, after paying the interest and lease charges of the six months. The Illinois Central, north and south, out of Chicago, is no exception to the foregoing remarks. Its traffic this season is unprecedented.

The Milwaukee and St. Paul Railway earnings for the first week in October were:

1867	242,057
Increase	$48,179

The Erie Railway in September, in common with the other New-York and the Western Roads, made a gain upon the traffic of the same month last year as follows:

	Sept., 1867.	Sept., 1866.
From freight	$1,129,224	$1,086,763
Passengers	304,629	318,446
United States Mail	10,892	10,892
Total	$1,444,745	$1,416,101
Gain on September, 1866		$28,644

There is a rumor in the Street this afternoon that the three great trunk lines, New-York Central, Erie and Pennsylvania Central, are to hold a preliminary conference in this city to-morrow or next day in regard to the practicability of consolidating and equitably apportioning their gross receipts for the Railway year beginning 1st October inst. Such an arrangement would afford the very highest assurance of uniformity in the rates of business.

The consolidation of the Cleveland, Painesville and Ashtabula and the Cleveland and Toledo Roads has been consummated on the basis of

$5,000,000 Ashtabula Stock at 175	$8,750,000
5,000,000 Toledo Stock at 125	6,250,000

in Capital Stock, with a combined (original) mortgage debt of about $5,000,000. Upon this aggregate of $20,000,000, the net earnings, the first year after consolidation, are estimated as at least equal to:

12 ⅌ cent. on $15,000,000 Stock	$1,800,000
7 ⅌ cent. on $5,000,000 Debt	350,000
Net clean cash earnings	$2,150,000

The bids for the $500,000 State of Georgia 7 per cent. bonds were opened at the National Bank of the Republic on Saturday afternoon. The amount bid for was $924,000—at prices ranging from 80c. to 85c., except one bid of $5,000 at 75c. and one of $20,000 at 75c. and interest. The accepted bids were 82c. and above.

The Assistant Treasurer of the United States in this City announces that the Treasury is prepared to accept Seven-thirty Notes of the June or July issues in even exchange for the Five-twenties of 1867, or if preferred the Five-twenties of 1865, charging interest upon the bonds from July 1 to date of conversion, at 6 per cent. in currency, and allowing the accrued interest on the Seven-thirties.

The Savannah News & Herald of the 11th inst. says: "Crop accounts are growing better every day, and planters are realizing more out of their crops than they anticipated. The staple has materially improved, while the bulk of the receipts do not seem to be of nearly as well prepared a style as in any former year. We look, however, for improvement henceforth, owing to the present fine picking weather. To-day is genial and warm. Our estimate of crop seems certain to be realized, and higher figures for the yield are freely spoken of. Planters who, two months ago, were exceedingly gloomy, are now writing hopefully, and their views as to their own and their neighbors' crops are becoming extended considerably. For instance, one man who thought he would not make 100 bales, now writes that he may send to his factory 150 bales. Such opinions being entertained by our own people, and with the flattering advices received in Europe from India, Egypt and Brazil, we can look for no enhancement of prices, and it seems to us that the holding back of cotton will, if carried out, be suicidal to the grower, as no disaster to the crop of this country can now have any effect on the markets of the world commensurate with the risk run of considerably lower prices. If the crop were held back, and we did recover a cent or two, we must remember that the cotton has got to find an outlet, and that when the quantity so held back should be pushed forward to meet any possible advance, it would tend to depress the markets more thoroughly than by a gradual supply, and where one man might benefit, a thousand would be sufferers."

FLOUR AND MEAL—State and Western Flour has been fairly active, especially low grades, which have been in demand for export, and which have again advanced 10c.@20c. ⅌ bbl. There has been no material variation in the prices of other grades, which have been moderately dealt in. Sales have been reported since our last of 27,000 bbls, including poor to choice Superfine State and Western at $9 20@$10 10; very poor to good extra State at $10 40@$11; good to choice extra State at $11 10@$11 50; poor to good shipping brands of round-hoop extra Ohio at $10 80@$11 70 ⅌ bbl. We now quote:

Superfine State and Western	$9 20@$10 10
Extra State	10 40@11 50
Extra Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, &c.	10 50@14 50
Extra Ohio, round-hoop, shipping brands	10 80@11 70
Extra Ohio, trade and family brands	11 75@14 50
Extra Genesee	11 60@14 50
Common to choice extra Missouri	14 25@16 85

Southern Flour continues in fair demand at buoyant prices; sales have been reported since our last of 950 bbls. at $10 90@$16 25 for common to very superior extra ⅌ bbl. Canadian Flour inactive and nominal. Rye Flour continues in good request at $7 25@$9 25 for inferior to very choice ⅌ bbl.; sales 500 bbls. Corn Meal has been in moderate request at $6 50 for City, $6 75 for Jersey, and $7 25 for Brandywine, ⅌ bbl.; sales 320 bbls. Of California Flour sales were reported of 10,250 bbls. and sacks, at $12@$13 75 ⅌ bbl. of 196 lbs. Buckwheat Flour is in demand at $3 50@$3 75 ⅌ 100 lbs. Included in the sales to-day have been 2,500 bbls. Extra State Flour for December delivery on private terms.

GRAIN—Spring Wheat has been much more freely offered, and has declined materially. It has been in fairly active demand at the reduced figures, chiefly for export. Winter has been held more firmly but has been quiet; sales have been reported, since our last, of 214,000 bushels, including very handsome White Michigan, at $3 25; Amber do., at $2 92½; extra choice Amber Spring, at $2 43@$2 45; No. 1 Spring, at $2 35@$2 38, chiefly at $2 37 for prime; No. 2 Spring, at $2 30@$2 33; No. 3 Spring, at $2 25@$2 30, and White California at $3 15@$3 25 ⅌ bushel. Corn has been less active, closing heavy in price. Sales have been reported, since our last, of 95,000 bushels, at $1 40@$1 43, closing at $1 42@$1 42½ for Mixed Western, afloat; $1 40@$1 41½ for do. in store; and $1 37@$1 39 for unsound, ⅌ bushel. Rye has been in light supply and demand; sales 10,800 bushels, including Western at $1 68 and State at $1 77 ⅌ bushel. Barley has been much plentier and decidedly cheaper; sales 46,000 bushels at $1 58½@$1 55 for Canada West, and $1 38@$1 40 for Western, ⅌ bushel. Oats have been less active and a shade cheaper. We quote new Western, according to actual sales, at from 81c.@82½c., here and to arrive, ⅌ bushel; sales 73,000 bushels, mainly to arrive. The Albany Argus of this morning says: "Barley has moved moderately during the week, both here and at New-York. The price now paid is high, and purchasers, looking to the decreased consumption of beer, the movement of the money market and the lack of all export demand, expect lower figures. Receivers, on the contrary, look to the rapid falling off in receipts as more than counterbalancing the position taken by consumers, while they claim that the consumption of beer will be as great as ever, if not increased. The main source of supply last year was Oswego, whence was shipped by canal near upon 4,200,000 bushels. The receipts at Oswego of the new crop of 1866, in September, October and November, were about 4,500,000. How stands the account this year? We give the receipts as far as reported:

September, bushels	694,000	230,000
October, to 13th, bushels	551,000	1,367,700
Total, bushels	1,245,000	1,597,700

Decrease so far in the receipts of 1867 of 352,700 bushels. The receipts in 1866 for the rest of October and November were 2,647,000 bushels. At Buffalo the receipts so far this season are about 1,000,000 bushels, which is largely in excess of those to a corresponding period in 1866, probably 600,000 bushels. These receipts are mainly from Chicago, and it will depend much upon the future of prices what addition will be made to the Buffalo receipts. At Chicago the receipts latterly have fallen off, the shipments also being less than 200,000 bushels during the week. The stock at Chicago over 360,000 bushels is almost all No. 2. In view of the fact that the malt houses in the interior of the State are drawing on the receipts at Buffalo and on Canada direct for their supplies, the receipts at tide water are watched with much interest. Up to the 8th inst. the receipts at tide water of new crop Barley were about 30,000 bushels short of those of 1866. The receipts from the 7th of October, last year, to the close, by canal, were as follows:

		Bushels.
October,	2d week	548,700
October,	3d week	1,042,800
October,	4th week	1,081,800
November,	1st week	843,800
November,	2d week	887,200
November,	3d week	747,400
November,	4th week	510,800
December,	1st week	796,800
December,	2d week	492,100
December,	3d week	24,200

Being a total of 6,780,500. The exports from New-York of last year's crop were 2,000,000 bushels. The balance, including some 400,000 bushels Malt, was taken by brewers. Do they require as much this year? and if they do, will they get it?

The trade here during the week has taken about 110,000 bushels, including 5,000 bushels No. 2 Illinois at $1 45; 11,400 bushels do., $1 50; 8,000 bushels Mixed State, $1 47; 3,000 bushels State two-rowed, $1 48; 1,000 bushels do., $1 50; 6,500 bushels State four-rowed, $1 52; 1,300 bushels Canada West, via Buffalo, $1 55, and 58,800 bushels do., via Oswego, on the spot and to arrive, at $1 60. At Toronto, 10th, some sales were made at 78c., f. o. b.; in the street, 80c.@83c. From Lower Canada not a bushel has been reported; samples of four or five loads were shown to-day on 'Change, and held at $1 50, but we heard of no bid having been put upon them. The Argus also gives the following list of boats laden with Flour and Grain which passed Fultonville, bound to the Hudson River, during twenty-four hours prior to 10:30 A. M. Saturday, Oct. 12, 1867: Samson, Buffalo, rye; Olympus, Oswego, barley and flour; H. W. Kasson, Buffalo, corn; Glad Tidings, Buffalo, wheat; H. Dwight, Buffalo, wheat; L. C. Meyer, Buffalo, corn; C. NEWS OF THE DAY.

EUROPE.

The continued agitation in Italy and the determined attitude of the party of action cause much financial uneasiness and depression in London and in Paris.

The United States steamer Ticonderoga arrived at Southampton yesterday.

GENERAL.

A brutal murder occurred in Colchester, Conn., late on Saturday night. Several Irishmen under the influence of liquor had a quarrel which finally ended in blows, and in the mêlée one of them, named John Killday, was so severely bruised with stones that he died. The supposed murderer, Daniel Sullivan, escaped.

The Republicans of Richmond met in convention at Capitol-square yesterday, when the following gentlemen were unanimously chosen delegates to the Constitutional Convention: J. W. Hunnicut, Judge John C. Underwood and James Morrissey, white; and Lewis Lindsey and James Lewis, colored.

The Washington Republican says that the President pronounces the statements relative to Gen. Sherman, contained in the Boston Advertiser's Washington dispatches, to be false "in whole and in all its parts. Gen. Sherman's mission," it says, "was wholly upon our Indian affairs."

A dispatch from Portland, Me., announces the loss, on the coast of New-Brunswick, of a fishing vessel and her crew, consisting of seventeen persons. The vessel was owned by the Captain and crew. Nine of the persons drowned left families.

The President has, upon the recommendation of Gov. Peirpoint and Attorney-General Stanbery, pardoned Samuel Barron, of Virginia, ex-Commodore of the Confederate Navy.

The latest official returns from Pennsylvania give a majority for Sharswood of 927.

LOCAL.

At the Court of Oyer and Terminer, yesterday, Eugene Sullivan was tried for manslaughter, in killing Michael Farrel, a tailor, in his rooms, at No. 126 Mott-street, on the 6th of May last. The testimony showed that the prisoner's wife had been living for some time in adulterous intercourse with the deceased, but no evidence was adduced to connect Sullivan with the commission of the crime, and after a brief deliberation the jury rendered a verdict of acquittal. Before the trial commenced the Grand Jury came into Court, and were discharged for the term.

At Saltersville, N. J., Saturday, a young desperado named James Spencer shot at three boys named John H. S. Thomas, Charles Wait and Joseph Salter. The two first-named were so badly injured that it is supposed that they cannot recover. Salter escaped unharmed. The motive for the deed is not apparent.

The Grand Jury was impaneled yesterday at the Court of General Sessions, and after being charged by Judge Russel, proceeded to the transaction of the business before them. Eight prisoners were arraigned, each of whom pleaded guilty, and was sentenced or remanded according to circumstances.

Joseph Martindale, Wm. Crome and three others of the crew of the bark Belle of the Sea were taken before United States Commissioner Osborn yesterday and held to bail in the sum of $1,000 each for mutiny at sea, alleged to have been committed on the homeward voyage from Calcutta.

The Union Republican County Convention met last evening at the corner of Twenty-third-street and Broadway, and nominated Joshua G. Abbe for Sheriff and Major James L. Haggerty for County Clerk. The Convention adjourned till Friday night to make other nominations.

The Board of Audit met yesterday, and received evidence relative to the claims of the Staats Zeitung, amounting to $8,583 50; the Journal of Commerce, amounting to $2,726 69; the Scandinavian Post, amounting to $7 80; the Franco American, amounting to $1,506 10; the estate of John Clancey, (Leader,) amounting to $431 20; the Irish American, amounting to $1,403 17, and the New-York Daily News, amounting to $3,133.

The case of Daniel Messmore and others, charged with defrauding the Government of the revenue tax on whisky, was brought up for examination before Commissioner White, yesterday, but the counsel for the defence not being ready to proceed, the investigation was adjourned till noon to-morrow.

The Sixty-ninth Regiment, N. Y. S. M., celebrated its seventeenth anniversary yesterday at Jones' Wood. Four thousand persons were present. Speeches were made during the day by Mayor Hoffman, Ex-Mayor Wood, Hon. Richard O'Gorman and others.

The corner-stone of a new Methodist Episcopal chapel, in East Eleventh-street, near Avenue B, was laid yesterday with impressive ceremonies, and in the presence of a large assemblage. The venerable Bishop James presided.

The new hall of Council No. 10 of the Union League was dedicated last evening with appropriate exercises. It is situated at the corner of Grand and Allen streets, and is roomy, commodious, and handsomely decorated.

The introductory lecture before the University Medical College was delivered last evening to a large audience of ladies and gentlemen by Prof. Loomis. His subject was "The Progress of Medical Science."

Breadstuffs were in more liberal supply yesterday. Low grades of flour were fairly active and firmer. Grain was generally lower and less freely dealt in. Provisions, sugars and tallow were moderately sought after. Cotton and petroleum attracted more attention at rather better prices. Freights were less active.

The number of beef cattle booked at the National Drove Yards yesterday, for the weekly supply, was 2,047. Trade was tolerably fair yesterday for cattle that were really fit to slaughter. Inferior grades sold slowly at low figures. During the former part of the day sales were quick for the best beeves at 16c.@17c. ⅌ lb., net weight. These figures represent the top of the market. In two or three yards a small number of the choicest bullocks were sold for 17½c. per net weight. The demand is active for good beeves. Fair cattle sell readily at 14c.@15c. per net weight. Large numbers of poor cattle sell slowly at 9c.@11c ⅌ lb. There seems to be a little more activity in the milch-cow market, but no improvement in prices. Fat calves sell readily at 12c.@13c. ⅌ lb., live weight; very few bring 13c. Common calves sell for 8c.@10c. ⅌ lb. The large number of inferior calves cause a dull market, after the best lots are disposed of. Sheep are in abundant supply. Most of the arrivals are thin and quite poor. Fair mutton sheep command remunerating prices, with quick sales at 5c.@6c. ⅌ lb., live weight. Thousands are sold at 3c.@4c. ⅌ lb., live weight. Very few sell for more than 5c. ⅌ lb., as they are too thin for the stalls of respectable butchers. Thin lambs sell slowly at 5c.@6c. ⅌ lb.; very few bring 7c. ⅌ lb. A few choice lambs were sold for a fraction of a cent more than 7c. ⅌ lb. Swine are active. Eight double-deck car loads of last Saturday's arrival were sold yesterday. Fat hogs go off quickly at 7¼c.@7⅜c., live weight. Dressed, the same quality bring 9⅜c.@9½c. ⅌ lb. Fair to good hogs, 7c.@7⅛c. ⅌ lb., live weight. Dressed, 9¼c.@9⅜c. ⅌ lb. Market pigs, 6c.@7c. ⅌ lb., live weight. 13,552 hogs were received at the yards in Fortieth-street for the weekly supply.

Defining Political Positions—The Question of Suffrage.

The result of the recent elections compels parties to define their positions on the current political issues of the day. The Republican Party is especially called upon to do this, because it is in possession of power, and is thus compelled to take the lead on all questions of public policy, and also because the defeat of negro suffrage in Ohio touches the past action of that party very nearly.

Mr. Stevens, of Pennsylvania, as usual, takes the lead in this matter. He declares that the Republican Party must now assert the power of Congress over the whole question of suffrage in all the States, and pass a bill which shall give the right of suffrage to the negroes in every State, Northern as well as Southern, anything in the Constitution or laws of any State to the contrary notwithstanding. Senator Sumner introduced a bill into the last Congress to precisely this effect—being prompted thereto by the defeat of the suffrage amendment in Connecticut; and he will, of course, press it upon Congress at the next session. Mr. Stevens' movement is intended to overrule the popular vote of Ohio. The Tribune has already taken ground in favor of this policy, as, of course, Wendell Phillips and the Anti-Slavery Standard have done. There can be little doubt, we presume, that the most extreme Radicals of the Republican Party in Congress will also take this position, which they think a necessary step in that "progress" of which they talk so much and know so little. Senator Wade, of Ohio, proclaimed his intention last Spring in Kansas to take a "leap ahead" whenever he saw a chance; and probably the sting of disappointment will act now as an additional stimulus to his leaping propensities. Senators Chandler and Howard are quite certain to embrace any measure which is at once truculent and unreasonable, and there will be now, as there always has been heretofore, quite a crowd of members in both Houses who are horribly afraid of getting out of line, and especially of falling behind the "advanced" leaders of their party.

It is by no means impossible, therefore, that a majority of the Republican members of Congress may, from various motives, support such a law. But it will scarcely command the assent of the whole party. Senator Trumbull has already taken ground against it in an able letter published in a Western journal, holding that impartial suffrage throughout the Union can be established only by the separate action of each State, or by an amendment of the Constitution. And we can hardly suppose that such Senators as Fessenden, Sherman and Edmonds, or Morgan and Conkling from this State, will hold or act upon a different construction of the Constitution.

It is very certain that until now the entire control of the question of suffrage has been conceded to the separate States. So far as we are aware no proposition has ever been made by any party or by any man of any standing, to declare by act of Congress who should, and who should not, have the right to vote in any State. The language of the Constitution would seem to be sufficiently explicit not to leave any doubt on this point. "The electors" for members of the House of Representatives, it declares in the first article, "in each State, shall have the qualifications requisite for electors of the most numerous branch of the State Legislature." This commits entirely and exclusively to the State Legislature, the right of fixing the qualifications for electors, and we know of no clause in the Constitution which changes or modifies the right thus conferred in any form or degree whatever. A subsequent section of the same article says that "the times, places and manner of holding elections for Senators and Representatives shall be prescribed in each State by the Legislature thereof; but the Congress may at any time by law make or alter such regulations, except as to the places of choosing Senators." It is not easy to see how Mr. Sumner or Mr. Stevens or anybody else can construe this language otherwise than as it has been construed by every Congress and every State and every statesman, from the beginning of the Government to the present day—as absolutely forbidding the enactment of such a law as they expect to force the Republican Party to pass.

Such a law has been enacted, it is true, for the Southern States; but the power to enact it and force it upon them was never claimed, even by Mr. Stevens himself, as derived from the Constitution. He always asserted that Congress had it only by the right of conquest,—that it was wholly outside of the Constitution, and was simply one of the rights which, in any war, the conqueror always has over the conquered party. Whether he will now change his ground on this point, or whether he will contend that the Northern States have been, or must be, "conquered" also, remains to be seen.

It also remains to be seen whether the Republican Party at large will respond to the rather extreme demand thus made upon it,—and what effect it will have upon coming elections if they do. As we have already explained, the recent defeats the party has sustained are due, in our judgment, to the fact, that it has gone too far in its action "outside the Constitution," in asserting for the National Government absolute authority over the States, and in disregard of the fundamental law and usages of the Republic, already. Whether it can recover its ground by going further, the future must disclose. But we are inclined to think that the Northern States will not surrender their own rights, quite so complacently as they have consented to the overthrow of those of the South.

Extravagance in the Administration of the City Government.

The Citizens' Association have done wisely in adopting a new method of bringing their views of the administration of civic affairs before the community.

They used to employ a special organ to propagate their ideas. That was well enough in its way. It contained, every week, a large amount of valuable information; not always presented, perhaps, in the most attractive form, but still, valuable to those of the tax-payers whom it reached. The trouble was that the organ of the Association did not reach a great many people. It lacked the attractiveness of a newspaper. And its weekly issues were put up in bundles for gratuitous circulation, when they should have been of a quality to attract customers by the thousand at the different news-stands.

The members of the Citizens' Association are not journalists. They are business men—the more active of them in their own different spheres of life; but they went beyond their separate spheres in making a specialty of journalism. And they had the uncommon good sense to discover this before they had sunk too much of their means. After they had taken their bearings in a cool and dispassionate way, they began to think that for the dissemination of really useful knowledge on municipal affairs, there was nothing to compare with a good solid pamphlet let loose occasionally on the highway of popular thought; and for several months they issued as many carefully-printed and carefully-stitched documents as their ample means enabled them. Their printing Bureau would have done no discredit to the Washington Globe office. Some of the real, good, substantial men of the City, no doubt, whiled away an idle hour by diving into this vast Cyclopedia of municipal literature. It had its attractions, just as the undelivered speeches of members of Congress, in their printed form, have now and have always had for earnest and single-minded constituents who naturally desire as much to know what their representative is thinking about, as to know what he had the graceful opportunity or the courage to say within the legislative arena. But the pamphlet system, like the project of a special Municipal Reform Organ, was not satisfactory at all. About half a year ago, we ventured in the columns of the Times to suggest that specialties in journalism were generally failures; that an appeal to the public judgment, to be effective, should be made through journals which were generally sought after as vehicles of public information; that pamphlets were rather the resort of doctrinaires having pet theories to propound than effective agencies for the dissemination of practical truths; and that, in short, the Citizens' Association should try and work themselves into communication with the Daily Press—the only real, potent agency by which public opinion can be reached.

The Citizens' Association took the advice in good part; and for several months past they have been giving us, at reasonable intervals, installments of their accumulated stock of information—about City swindles of various kinds—which not only give the tax-payers a clear (and we think, generally, a candid) view of the state of misgovernment to which we submit, but which supply really good reading matter, (entertaining in some sense.) Take an example from Mr. Cooper's letter on the Chamberlain's perquisites, which we publish to-day in another column. It shows, by a careful summing up of the statutes bearing upon the recompense which Mr. Sweeney legitimately derives in the shape of salary, he is paid at the rate of $23,000 a year; that his duties are not so onerous but that this sum might be held sufficient to cover the responsibility attaching to the office; and that anything the Chamberlain receives outside of these direct payments, in the shape of Bank interest on deposits, he receives as a Trustee of the City, and can be made to account for, at Equity, in the State Courts. The argument to which Mr. Sweeney, if he should have anything to say, seems to us to be fairly stated. The views of the Association are, indeed, presented with judicial fairness. They do not reflect in any manner upon the integrity of the present incumbent.

The means by which the Tax-Levy Law of 1867 was made to give legal sanction to a double payment for the Chamberlain's services as County Treasurer, Mr. Cooper does not attempt to examine. He simply recites the facts. And he argues from these that if it is proper and right to pay nearly as much in the way of salary for the services of a City Treasurer as is paid to the President of the United States, the tax-payers of New-York ought to have the Chamberlain on their side when they seek to get the interest allowance of the bank where the City funds are deposited, and where large sums always stand to the credit of the Corporation.

Mr. Sweeney is invited to view the matter in a business light. If he is as wise as he is reported to be smart he will do so. The working people of New-York begin to feel the pressure—indirectly—of local taxes, in a way they have never felt before. And the Citizens' Association now seek, by a fair but pointed statement of the case, to enlighten public opinion as to the origin of the evils from which we suffer.

The Law of Mercantile Agencies.

Some sixteen years ago a suit was tried in the United States Circuit Court, in this City, which made some talk among the mercantile community at the time. It was a suit brought by a Mr. Beardsley, a merchant in Ohio, against Mr. Tappan, the proprietor of a mercantile agency in this City, to recover damages for slander—the slander consisting in the reports made to the customers of the agency in the usual course of business as to the standing of Mr. Beardsley. The jury gave the plaintiff a verdict of $10,000.

The case has made but slow progress since that time. Possibly it is too much to think that public opinion may have some influence upon its progress, although on the questions involved in this suit there was quite doubt enough as to what was required by the interests of the mercantile community, to make public opinion quite undecided. On the one hand was the seeming necessity of such institutions so long as mercantile transactions are conducted on credit; and on the other hand the danger, to which every merchant felt himself exposed, of having his credit entirely ruined by a secret and possibly hostile hand.

From this reason or some other the case has delayed till now, when we are able to publish the decision of the Court denying a motion for a new trial. The opinion of Judge Nelson is one, which must, if it is sustained, have a very powerful effect upon mercantile agencies. The ground assumed by the defendants was that his communication was made from good motives and was believed to be true, and was therefore a privileged one which could not be made the ground of an action for damages. The Judge obviously perceived the difficulties in the way of sustaining this rule on the one side, or of utterly overthrowing it on the other. The result was the laying down of the rule upon the trial, that in order to make the communication privileged, it must be one between the two parties themselves, not one between them by means of clerks of both. The mode in which the defendant did his business at the time in question, was by keeping extensive books in which were entered the reports as to the standing of various merchants, which were shown by his clerks to the clerks of the parties who had subscribed to the agency.

The result of this case, if the Supreme Court shall sustain the Judge's view, as it seems to us probable that it will, will possibly be to make an entire change in the mode of doing this kind of business. Those immense establishments, with numerous corps of clerks and with long rows of desks on which lay numbers of immense volumes in which could be learned a story, true or false, of every merchant in any part of the country whatever, will probably pass away. The liabilities of slander suits arising out of them will be too heavy to incur. They may give place to smaller establishments, in which one man may keep, for the information of those who deal with him, similar knowledge as to the merchants in a section no larger than he can manage by himself. For such communications, when made in that private way between man and man, the law may well enough perhaps afford a privilege; and for such alone will this case prove a protection.

The Chimera of Universal Peace.

All the world has laughed at the Geneva theorists who, convening as a Peace Congress, listened to such belligerent speeches from Garibaldi, and such belligerent letters from Mazzini, and thereupon passed resolutions which, if ever carried into effect, must convulse Europe with a continental war to whose gigantic proportions history has no parallel. Boston—in many respects the Geneva of our Republic—has just had its meeting of a "Universal Peace Society"—less warlike in tone than its European prototype, but not less amusing in its pacific temper than the other one in its hostile tone, and equally impracticable, futile and barren of result. Let us only hope that the leading figure in the Boston Peace Convention will not imitate the leading figure in the Geneva Congress, by rushing red-hot into war before the Convention got fairly adjourned.

The proceedings of the "Universal Peace Society" show how chimerical are the views and the hopes of its participants. One member, the well-known H. C. Wright, declared "he was not afraid to trust to his neighbor's heart for justice, if it were only properly appealed to." If he will only open a retail store on this principle, we will guarantee him more customers than he will care for. Another member went still further, and "thought the time would come when all penalties for any crime would be abolished." A third speaker magnanimously announced that "he would rather a man should kill him than he should kill the man, even in defence of his life;" all of which, and much other non-resistant theorizing, is all very well till it comes to be put in practice, when it usually falls to the ground. After this kind of discussion, we do not wonder that the Society passed no less than fifteen self-contradictory or otherwise absurd resolutions, of which the first is a fair sample, namely, that "it is the duty of all men to refuse service to their Governments when they call upon them to kill their fellow-men."

Utopian schemes of universal peace have been the dream of humanity from the earliest ages—and very creditable to the hearts, if not to the heads, of the dreamers, are such visions even at the present day, and with all the light of recorded history to refute them. We are not prepared to accept "at the foot of the letter" the words with which Dr. Hamilton prefaces his work on Military Surgery: "War is the normal condition of mankind; peace is the abnormal condition. This statement is not flattering to a people claiming Christianity and boasting of its civilization. It is nevertheless true, and the fact must be accepted." We need not hold to the notion, either, of the "blessing" of war. But we see no reason to regard the "millenium of peace" as close at hand. Even Dr. Cumming, having lived to see the world rumble on complacently, after the date when he predicted it would be rolled up like a scroll, has found an error of a few thousand years in his figures. That policy which refuses to look upon wars as a necessity, in some instances, is both too poetical and peurile for practical use. It was when the world was young that bards first sang the Saturnia Regna—the Golden Age of Peace. Since that time the world has been convulsed each year with war here or there; nor are the signs less propitious for the future.

We do not wish to discourage the pacific inclinations of the Universal Peace Society—whether personal or national. But its logic seems to rest upon a general indefinite hope that some time in the future the day may come when "swords shall be beaten into plowshares and spears into pruning-hooks, and nations shall not learn war any more." The peace advocates also rest upon a curious quibble, expressed in Trumbull's famous couplet:

> "That's no war, each mortal knows,
> Where one side only gives the blows."

Now, as a matter of fact, we all know that, in national as in personal difficulties, we are apt to find a point where "forbearance ceases to be a virtue," and our theories of non-resistance are scattered to the winds.

This very Society, if we mistake not, used to meet and pass resolutions just like the present, long before our own war. A Secretary comfortably warmed his office-chair through the year, on a comfortable salary, and the annual meetings were successful and enthusiastic. Suddenly war reared its bloody crest within our borders; the Society was heard of for a time no more; if we mistake not, some of its members shouldered the musket. At all events, the "Quaker vote" which came out in Pennsylvania for Lincoln grew to be Quaker bayonets at Malvern Hill and Gettysburgh. Now, in peace times, resolutions and speeches are again in order; but they affect us no longer.

War is an evil, but not an unmixed evil. War is sometimes undertaken in the interests of peace, in a broader and larger sense. So long as the Napoleons, the Bismarcks, the Gortschakoffs rule affairs, we must be prepared for war, because they mean war when peace will not avail to further their national objects. Mazzini very well rebuked the Geneva conference when he reminded them that peace ought only to be the consequence of liberty and justice, and to insure liberty and justice war might be needful.

Had the Peace Society only looked at the coat-of-arms of the ancient commonwealth within whose borders they convened, they might have found a line more worthy of adoption than their stock of fifteen dreary resolutions, denying monuments and honors to the brave, and sifting out absurd propositions in political economy. "By the sword, she seeks placid peace under liberty." As a closet dream, universal peace has its pleasant features; as a policy it must be coördinate with a vast number of other considerations. As an actual fact, Europe throughout never seemed to tremble more imminently on the verge of a general war, than in our own times.

MINOR TOPICS.

The Treasury Department will disburse, on the 1st of the incoming month, about twenty-seven millions of dollars in gold, as interest on Five-Twenty Bonds. This is the largest amount of specie that has ever been paid for any half-year's interest. Most of it will of course be paid out by the Sub-Treasury in this City. Possibly a quarter or a third of it is due on bonds held abroad. But, with the rates at which foreign exchange has lately ruled, none of this gold is likely to go out of the country. A good deal of it will undoubtedly be reinvested here in more of our securities, and so much of it as is not will be turned into exchange. The accumulation of gold in the Treasury is maintained at such a great figure, and is so constantly increasing in volume, that even in view of the disbursements to be made, the Secretary of the Treasury is enabled to sell about his customs receipts, and thus relieve the pressure on the market. His sales, however, have been more for the purpose of obtaining currency, than for affecting the temporary quotations. The immense November interest will furnish a good supply of specie for service.

The discussion as to the steamship championship of the Atlantic, between the Pereire, Scotia, Russia, Dundee and other steam vessels, bids fair to be interminable. We will suggest a plan by which a conclusion can speedily be reached. If the logs of each of these vessels should be published, with the position of the vessel each day at noon, the knots run during each corresponding twenty-four hours, and the average direction and force of the wind on each day, all this could be put in one-quarter of the space which is taken up by the trashy letters now published by the rival lines, consisting as they mainly do, of empty boasts and little specific information. Capt. Comstock, the well-known North Atlantic navigator, unwittingly started the present discussion by a letter in which he disputed some of the assertions of Mr. George Mackenzie, the Periere agent. From that time the dispute has taken a very general, unscientific and advertising turn. If the simple publication of the logs of the vessels should be substituted for this indefinite style of assertion, it would be of practical value to navigators, besides being decisive of the particular issue.

The statement is persistently repeated that the President intends to abolish the Metropolitan Board of Internal Revenue, avowedly on the ground that it interferes with the Democratic Party. How it interferes we are not informed. All that the Board has done, or can do, is to prevent or check the fraudulent manufacture and sale of whisky,—to secure the payment of the tax upon it imposed by law. If those engaged in thus defrauding the Government are wholly or mainly Democrats, then we can understand how stopping them from swindling will interfere with the Democratic Party,—but not otherwise. The operations of the Board have thus far contributed largely to the revenue and done something, though not so much as we hope they may do hereafter, to arrest the wholesale and ruinous frauds practiced in that department. That the President will deliberately abolish a Board which is doing something, no matter how little, for such an object, for no other reason than to help the fortunes of a political party, we shall believe when we can't help ourselves,—and not before.

The impeachment scheme is not being pressed at present as it was some time ago, and there seems now no more prospect of its success than if it had never been broached. The Ohio Republicans in particular appear to have turned against it with great force. The two leading journals of the State, the Cincinnati Gazette and the Cincinnati Commercial, which have heretofore favored impeachment, have discussed the subject within the last few days in such a way as to show that the change of opinion has been very decided, and that they are now fixed and determined in opposition to the project. The Commercial charges that the declaration for impeachment damaged the Republican Party in the election; and it advises that when Congress meets none shall be so demented as to propose this "leap into the dark." The Gazette, which is the Radical organ, declares that "the opportunity has passed, and the great necessity will be shortened to a brief time before the trial could be completed;" and it finds consolation in the fact that, in the forthcoming Presidential contest, "the Republicans will have the aid of Johnson as an example of the misrule they are contending against." The Gazette also declares that, "while the people expressed their sentiment on this question when it was appealed to during the canvass, they knew that it was too late, and that the trial now would complicate the Presidential election in a way that no man could calculate the consequences." We have no doubt that Wendell Phillips, Ashley and such men will continue to scream for impeachment; but it is evident that unless Mr. Johnson does something more than he has done or is likely to do, they will have but few followers.

The Garibaldian revolution seems to "hang fire"—which a successful revolution should never do. The fights in the Roman territory have been very small affairs, and have been entirely gotten up by Garibaldians who had previously entered the Papal Dominion for the purpose. They have not been joined by the people, as they expected, neither in Rome or the other cities, and though we were told that the Garibaldians had commenced operations at points distant from Rome in order to draw out the Papal troops and thus give the Romans an opportunity to rise, the latter have not embraced the opportunity. It seems as if success could not now be hoped for in the present revolutionary attempt.

This is a terrible day for the country. That awful body of confederated revolutionists, the Maryland militia, are to have a general parade in Baltimore,—that is, it is called a parade, but what it will end in before sundown who can tell? The amusement will make many people tremble,—tremble for the Stars and Stripes, for the capitol, for the safety of Washington, and especially for the safety of any stray Radical Congressmen who may be caught in its purlieus. For has it not been whispered around, and has it not been trumpeted abroad, and do we not know that the Maryland militia have been making preparations, and buying brass 6-pounder guns, to march on Washington, prevent the assembling of Congress, and back up the President in his designs against the Constitution, whose praises he so frequently celebrates? It is true that we have not given credit to this fearful news; but there are others who did give it credit,—before the late elections. But to-day we shall watch and see. If we discover that this so-called "parade" really covers up a deep and dark design against the liberties of America, we shall give timely notice to Gen. U. S. Grant.

The difficulty of an artistic treatment of our modern costume is made most painfully apparent when it is proposed to erect a statue of any distinguished contemporary. The reported selection of Mr. Story to make the statue of George Peabody, ordered by the city of London, suggests this difficulty again. However estimable a man may be in private life, yet to make a bronze representation of him in our ugly fashion of pantaloons, boots and coat is really to inflict a nuisance upon posterity. So much is this so that even the boldest realistic sculptor would not dare to grapple with a stove-pipe hat. The costume of a military hero gives some chance for flowing outlines. A cloak can be introduced, a plume can be made of service, the embroidery comes into play, while the sword gives a chance for some action. But there is no more hopeless subject than a respectable man of business, in his ordinary costume and doing nothing in particular. Even a pen and a scroll are hardly in character, while a ledger and a ruler cannot be admitted. There are two prominent instances in which the artists, feeling this difficulty, have boldly cut the Gordian knot, and attempted, though with what success each one must judge for himself, to return to the simplicity of nature. The one is the statue of Washington by Crawford, in the grounds of the Capitol, and the other is the statue of Voltaire by Pijalle, which is to be found in a retired corner of the Mazarin Library, at Paris. In this last the natural obstacles in the way of this treatment were even greater than our present costume offers. Voltaire was in his old age, and his whole body was emaciated to the last degree, yet there he is in marble, in puris naturalibus, and the startling effect of the statue shows what genius—French genius—can do even under such difficulties.

Who requires the more porter after fatigue, a married man or a single man? Here is a fine, new point for debating societies to discuss. If anybody doubts whether there be anything in the question, we shall refer him to the late review of the British troops at Chatham by H. R. H. the Duke of Cambridge, at the conclusion of which a pint of porter was issued to each man engaged, "and an additional pint to each married man." Such are the advantages, or, at least, the set-off, of matrimony in England, and particularly in the English service.

In reading the reports of the debates at the late meeting of the British Scientific Congress at Dundee, we are grieved that we have no scientific body in this country approaching in importance the British Association for the advancement of science. The number and eminence of the members at the late meeting, the range of the subjects discussed, the character of the discussions and their results, all impress us with the idea of the great value of such a body to the national development. We have in this country a very large number of men distinguished for their researches and studies in the various modern sciences, and in some departments we have many that are equal to those of any men living. But unfortunately instead of associating in one body possessed of national character, scientific importance and popular interest, our savants are organized into two bodies (shall we say antagonistic?) beside a number of minor bodies that do not coöperate with either. Some years ago they were all united in the "American Association," which was rapidly rising in importance, and was deeply influencing the country in the direction of scientific thought and investigation. But some of the ablest men of the body, with Agassiz at their head, established a new and exclusive organization, which is of no consequence to any body but its own members. We should like very much if it could be so arranged as that, by next Summer, the scientific men of the country could all meet together again in congress as formerly.

Though "that which we call a rose by any other name would smell as sweet," yet when we find the President of the Peace Society, lately convened at Boston, to be one "Mr. Love, of Philadelphia," the fitness of the name is too striking to be passed in silence. It is sufficient to give him a life-lease of his position. "Love"—par-appropriate: and "Love, of Philadelphia," that City of Brotherly Love—could anything better be conceived? On the other hand, the Society is hardly so fortunate in the delegate whom it sends to Europe to stop the fighting there—"Mr. Peebles, of Battle Creek, Mich." Peebles is passable enough—though "Peebles' Farm" is the name of one of the bloodiest of the Virginia battle-fields. But "Battle Creek, Mich.," will hardly do. Mr. Peebles had better sink that creek, and hail, say from Olive Branch Four Corners or Pax Vobiscum Centre, either of which names, or similar ones, he can find in any good Gazetteer of the United States.

WASHINGTON.

AFFAIRS AT THE NATIONAL CAPITAL.

Special Dispatches to the New-York Times.

Washington, Monday, Oct. 14.

GEN. GRANT FOR PRESIDENT.

The effect of the late elections upon the question of the next Presidency is strikingly illustrated by the great number of pronouncements for Gen. Grant which are being received here every day. From all sections Republicans are writing urging a concentration on Gen. Grant, and what is quite remarkable, the sentiment in this direction from New-England is most demonstrative. A leading Radical member of Congress from Massachusetts, a strong advocate of impeachment, to-day announced himself in favor of Gen. Grant for the Presidency, and said he was ready to put the most entire faith in him. The question of the Vice-Presidency, too, is not neglected, and the name of John A. Andrew, of Massachusetts, is very frequently mentioned as a most fit man for the second place.

THE METROPOLITAN REVENUE BOARD.

The statement that the Secretary of the Treasury had resolved, as the result of a conference with the President and Revenue Agent, Hillyer, to abolish the Metropolitan Revenue Board of New-York is wholly untrue. Deputy-Commissioner Parnell left for New-York to-night, and the Board will continue its sessions. It is true, however, that a determined and desperate effort is being made by the whisky influence and the disappointed office-seekers to crush the Board and at the same time injure the Secretary and the Commissioner, if possible. Prominent in this movement are Ex-Commissioner Messmore and his friends, the Kentucky Bourbon Company, Wisewell, who did not get Messmore's place, and his friends; and last, though not least, there comes a wail from the Democratic politicians of New-York to the effect that the raid on whisky by the Board is ruining the Democratic campaign funds, and that if not stopped there will be no money for the election, and consequently no Democratic victory. This lament has been poured into the ear of the President by Hillyer; and it is looked upon as the most potent appeal that can be made, and on its presumed success are based all the reports of the removal of the Board. But Mr. McCulloch maintains that the Board helps to collect the revenue, and the Philistines can only respond by accusing the Secretary of not being a Johnson man, because he prefers to see the revenues collected rather than see the Democratic Party's cash-box full from the proceeds of illicit whisky. While Hillyer was here he made a bid for the vacant deputy commissionership. He wasn't encouraged. Among other New-Yorkers here are Rufus F. Andrews, Merwin R. Brewer and Postmaster Roberts, of Brooklyn.

MARYLAND STATE GOVERNMENT.

The Sub-Judiciary Committee met to-day for the consideration of Maryland affairs. No witnesses were examined, although several subpœnas were ordered. The new Maryland Constitution was discussed, and it is probable that a large share of the investigation will be devoted to law points and the principles of republican government. It is also probable that Gen. Grant and Secretary Stanton will be summoned to testify as to the applications for arms for the Maryland militia.

NATIONAL BANKS.

The Comptroller of the Currency is in receipt of many inquiries from country banks as to whether they can hold the new three per cent. certificates as part of their reserve. The Comptroller refers the banks to the law, which requires that two-fifths of the reserve shall consist of lawful money of the United States. If any of the country banks keep more of their reserve than this required two-fifths in their own vaults, the excess may properly consist of three per cents., but as all of them prefer to keep their balances in New-York and Boston at four per cent., the certificates cannot, therefore, be made available as a part of their reserve. In this respect the city banks have a decided advantage.

SOUTHERN RAILROAD TROUBLES.

The Virginia railroad delegation, representing the Southside and Virginia and East Tennessee railroad interests, headed by Gen. Mahone and Messrs. R. W. Hughes and R. L. Owen, had interviews with Gen. Grant to-day, and finally arranged the matter of their indebtedness to the Government to the satisfaction of both parties interested. They asked and obtained brief extensions for the payment of the amount due, and the arrangement for the consolidation of the roads will be proceeded with.

COMPOUND INTEREST NOTES.

The October compounds of 1864 mature to-morrow. The original issue was about $16,000,000. Of this amount there were outstanding on the 28th of September last $13,944,200. Since that time the issue has been rapidly exchanged for three per cents., and it is believed but a very small amount will be presented for payment. The amount of compounds due in December was, at the close of September, $18,643,600.

Dispatches to the Associated Press.

Washington, Monday, Oct. 14.

INDIANS DECLARING FOR PEACE.

The Acting Commissioner of Indian Affairs has received the following dispatch from Thomas Murphy, Superintendent of Indian Affairs, dated at Medicine Lodge Creek, sixty miles south of Fort Larned, Oct. 2, but forwarded from Fort Harker, Kansas, on the 12th inst.: "I have now been twelve days here among the Indians, and find them all anxious for peace. I have considerable trouble in getting communication with the Cheyennes, but have succeeded. They promise that no more war parties shall go out, and agree to meet the Commissioners. I can now safely say that the Arapahoes, Cheyennes, Apaches, Kiowas and Comanches will be fully represented here at the grand council. There are large numbers of these Indians here now, and others are coming in as fast as they can. Say to Commissioner Taylor, if the Commissioners can get here sooner than full moon it would be the better."

CLOSE OF THE PARIS EXPOSITION.

Immediately after the closing of the Paris Exposition, (31st inst.,) exhibitors are required to pack up and remove their products. All articles not so removed by the 30th of November will be transferred by authority to the public stores at Paris at the risk and expense of the exhibitors. Products or articles not removed from the public stores by the 30th of June, 1868, will be sold at public sale, and the net proceeds applied to charities. Such are the necessary regulations of the French Commission.

The regulations adopted by the Secretary of State on the 20th of August, 1866, provide that with the closing of the Exhibition, in conformity with the regulations of the Imperial Commission, the United States Government's control and charge of the property will cease, and the Commissioner-General will deliver the products to the order of their respective owners, who will receipt for them—which delivery will be made at the place of exhibition—and that property not applied for and removed by the owners within the period fixed by the regulations of the Imperial Commission for that purpose, will be at the expense and risk of the owners and subject to the charges which may accrue on it. These facts have been communicated to exhibitors by circulars from N. M. Beckwith, Esq., the United States Commissioner-General, but owing to the change of residence or some other circumstance, a number of letters have been unclaimed at the Post-offices.

THE COUNTERFEIT TREASURY BONDS.

There are many points of difference in the counterfeit notes which Mr. S. M. Clark, Chief of the Printing Bureau, did not deem necessary to include in his report to the Secretary of the Treasury, there being so many of them—one of which, in addition to the others heretofore mentioned, may be of service in detecting the false issue. In the counterfeit notes, the lines forming the right shoulder of the female in the central vignette do not come up to the sword.

but leave a white space. In the genuine note the lines are not only more numerous, but they come clearly and distinctly up to the sword. So far as discovered, the Treasury Department has had presented to it only about seventy thousand dollars' worth of the spurious notes.

THE HOUSE JUDICIARY COMMITTEE.

The Sub-Judiciary Committee of the House of Representatives met to-day at 12 o'clock in the Committee Room at the Capitol, the following-named members being present: Hon. Francis Thomas, Chairman, with Messrs. Boutwell, Lawrence, Churchill and Marshall. This Committee is charged with the duty of inquiring if the States of Delaware and Maryland have republican forms of government, and not repugnant to the Constitution of the United States. No testimony was taken, although witnesses are in waiting.

CONSCIENCE MONEY.

There has been transferred to the Treasurer of the United States a letter received some time ago at the Treasury Department, inclosing United States notes and bonds in the aggregate amounting to $19,854, which were sent here without any explanation whatever, from Urbana, Ohio, and which have accordingly, after waiting some time for information as to the sender, been transferred to the "conscience fund." The principal amounts inclosed were seven-thirty bonds amounting to $16,000, which, with the interest and premium added and $775 in currency, made up the sum above mentioned. The numbers on all the coupons and all the notes were cut out, leaving no way by which they could be traced to the sender.

AMUSEMENTS.

Academy of Music—Italian Opera.

It is a significant sign of improvement in musical taste when the "field nights" of the present opera season have been those devoted to the grander class of works. Certainly "The Huguenots," which was received last season with very unsatisfactory pecuniary results, has been the most profitable production that Mr. Maretzek has indulged in during the current subscription series. Last evening the Academy was again filled to listen to another capital performance of this monument of Meyerbeer's talent. Mr. Maretzek will certainly do well to draw on the sturdy masters more, and depend less on those lighter operas which now seem to possess but little power even in the case of an essentially popular audience. The "Hugenots," from first to last a marvel of musical science, has met with the very kindliest reception this year, thanks, partly, to the beauty which shines through the master's profoundest works, and partly on account of the mingled fire and delicacy which has marked the entire representation by the existing cast, which have at once put the audience in sympathy with the composer. Perhaps the best testimony to the genius which this work embodies is found in the rapt attention of such a crowd as that which greedily listened to every note last night. The applause at the end of the third act, a finale without a superior in any of Meyerbeer's works, was hearty and prolonged, and was deserved as well by the excellence of the performance as by the beauty of the thing performed. Nothing better than Mme. Parepa-Rosa's Valentine, in this opera, and particularly in this act, can be well imagined. And even if there should have been any present last evening who, like the guests at Lucretia Borgia's funeral banquet, "have ears but hear not," even they must have esteemed Madame Rosa for her general manner and impulsive demeanor in the scene. Senora Peralta's Queen is also a performance to be proud of having witnessed. Roll any two opera companies into one, and among the combined forces no more accomplished singer can be found than Senora Peralta. It is a pleasant record to have to make that she was received as she deserved. Nothing, either, can be more manly, vigorous and thoroughly artistic than Sig. Anastasi's Raoul. Mme. Testa displays her native energy and admirable voice to everybody's entire satisfaction in the part of Urban, and certainly Sig. Orlandini must not be forgotten in these brief praises for a worthy and even Nevers. Sig. Bellini and Sig. Medini have already been remembered. The singing of the chorus in this opera, which is full of effective ensembles, is remarkably good, and the choristers seem not only to know how to sing, but even to understand what they are singing. The orchestra, too, deserves a tribute, and Mr. Bergman several of them, for his intelligent superintendence and direction of the whole musical performance.

"The Huguenots" will be repeated on Wednesday; and on Friday the new opera, "Don Bucefalo"—which is to be essentially a Ronconi opera—will be produced. It appears from a plot of this work, which has been circulated in the entertaining "Season," the latest house-bill of the better theatres, that the chief idea of the opera is to caricature the infatuation of a class of young ladies to become prime donne. Don Bucefalo is an eccentric and enthusiastic maestre, traveling to procure new artists and fresh voices for the various impressarii. He arrives at the village, the scene of the opera, and hearing a chorus of villagers, imagines he has discovered a mine of artists, and sets them all half crazy by promising them the wealth and pleasures of the whole world if they will follow him. It is unnecessary to follow the details of the plot, which is of the slightest possible description.

Irving Hall—Mr. Arthur Sketchley's Entertainment.

Mr. Arthur Sketchley, who has attained great popularity in his native England by a series of ludicrous writings and a series of readings of the same, made his début in this country at Irving Hall, last evening. His entertainment comprised a selection of the best things he has written and read in London, and there brought prominently forward the "star" creation of his comic muse—Mrs. Brown—a lady of the garrulous type, and altogether British in her habits and conversation. Mrs. Brown is not a new character, but she is a new combination of characters. Grains of Mrs. Malaprop, of Mrs. Caudle, and of Mrs. Lirriper go to make up her humorous old body, and her sayings and doings, as related in Mr. Sketchley's thoroughly English, rattling, off-hand, friendly, story-teller's way, introduces Mrs. Brown at once to popular notice as a new source of amusement and reference. Mrs. Brown at the play and Mrs. Brown in Paris was very well received last evening by quite a large and quite a touch-and-go audience. Her rage against "them foreign chaps which was never born to no better, my love," was greatly enjoyed, and her complaints of Brown's indifference to her comfort were as entertaining as some of those which Douglas Jerrold's heroine was fond of hurling at the ruffianly Caudle between midnight and morning. The laws of sequence have seldom been so sadly outraged as in Mr. Sketchley's entertainment, but its diversity is perhaps one of its merits. At any rate, you begin with him a subject which appears to lead into expansive fields and find it walled up all around with one of his jokes. You follow thus from subject to subject; when you take passage on one of his Trains of thought, expect no other terminus than a joke. As soon as you attempt to walk gravely by his side, he trips you up with a droll saying—sometimes clear and sometimes muddy. When the joke is muddy, you must lie there till you find the bottom—he doesn't attempt to help you out. It is astonishing how the audience appeared to like all this. The ladies appeared to like it as well as anybody. "Mrs. Brown" retires early. The entertainment was over at 9:30 o'clock. It will be repeated on Friday next.

French Theatre—Marie Antoinette.

Mme. Ristori repeated her performance of Giacometti's last heroine, last evening, to an audience quite as large, and certainly as enthusiastic as any she has had this season. The touches of pathos and human nature, although it is the human nature of a queen, which we have in the fifth and sixth acts of this drama, strike on the heart like a knocker, and summon sympathy to the threshold; there is not a semblance throughout her pathetic scenes, in the parting with her royal husband or in the last solemn moment of her own life, of that mawkish sentimentality with which other artists have invested their voice to catch a stray tear or two.

Mme. Ristori is to repeat this personation to-night at the Brooklyn Academy, and Mr. Grau announces all the grand scenery used at the French Theatre is to be transferred to Brooklyn to render the representation complete. This will be Mme. Ristori's last appearance over the river, as on Monday next she is to play in Philadelphia. Her final performances in New-York, consequently, occur on Wednesday and Friday evenings, and at the matinée on Saturday.

New-York Theatre.

Mlle. Zoe repeated the drama of "The French Spy" last evening, at this theatre, and is announced to appear to-night as "The Angel of Midnight," and in that part will doubtless sustain the reputation she has already made in the leading rôles of Mme. Celeste's repertoire. On Monday next another star is to appear at the New-York, in the person of Miss Fannie B. Price, a lady of whom the Western papers have had a good deal to say. The triple character in Messrs. Fulton and Maeder's drama of "Nobody's Daughter" will be her opening performance.

THE OHIO ELECTION.

The Lesson of the Result—The Negro Suffrage Question—Greenbacks—Taxation—Dangers of the Financial Question—Value and Importance of the Lesson.

The Beeches, Thursday, Oct. 10, 1867.

A great many people opened their eyes in astonishment at the Ohio election, and had reason too. The causes of the overthrow and the lesson taught will be invaluable to all political leaders, if they will be wise enough to look at the facts. If they will do this, they will be like children with the measles—not take it a second time. If they are not, they will be overthrown again. But before I make an analysis of causes, let me give a word of encouragement to all who feel weak and fainting. It will be found in two lines of figures, equally instructive to Democrats and Republicans.

Ohio in 1862.............................5,000 Democratic.
Ohio in 1863.............................100,000 Republican.

That lesson is instructive to all who are capable of being taught. Now let me say another thing to prevent mistake on the part of New-York politicians. Nothing conservative, or radical entered into the canvass at all. Nothing concerning reconstruction in the South was mentioned. The State of Ohio is as firm to-day on the reconstruction measures as it was in 1866. There is no change whatever. What, then, is the cause? Precisely the same that it was in 1862,—the dissatisfaction of a large number of Republicans. It is not Democratic strength, but Republican weakness, which is the cause. In 1862, the war had been unsuccessful, and the Republicans, many of them, thought it was badly conducted, made no exertion, and Ohio went for the Democrats. In the same way, a large number of Republicans now think the Republican party is badly conducted, on two or three subjects, and especially those men whose prejudices or interests are interfered with. I will specify:—

1. The State Ticket and Legislature in some of the large counties were borne down by the question of Negro Suffrage, unwisely and unmercifully forced upon them, and put in the worst possible form. It was coupled with a disfranchizement of deserters, many of whom were entirely innocent, having left the army without regular discharges. How many there were none can tell; but, I think, a great many. But, entirely aside from this, the people of Ohio will not vote for negro suffrage till they change their minds. The fact that it was, practically, of little or no importance only showed that the party leaders wanted to force it upon them against their convictions. "You can lead a horse to water but you cannot make him drink," says the proverb. Peter the Great undertook to shave the long hair of his soldiers and could not do it. Party leaders cannot do as much as he could. It if perfect nonsense to talk about "logical sequences" and the "rights of suffrage" to people who don't know what a logical sequence is, and care nothing about suffrage for others; besides, the doctrine itself is nonsense. A man who has not now a vote has no more right to vote than those who have. The single women of this county (numbering many thousands, taxed for their property,) have no right to vote. In every precinct of Ohio the State ticket lost votes (on account of the Amendment) of Republicans, who either did not vote at all, or virtually voted against the whole ticket. In one word, you cannot force men to vote against both their convictions and their prejudices. It is well that the attempt is made in a year when the lesson will be useful and not do a great deal of mischief. I regard this lesson as the stepping-stone for success in 1868. The Republican Party, if it wishes to retain power, must at once throw aside all the wild, revolutionary theories which, ultra men, by working on the war fever have endeavored to engraft on the policy of the country. In other words, the side issues, the moral and social questions must be left where they belong, to the reason and conscience of the people. It is not the Christian idea to legislate men into anything. On the contrary, the appeal is from human tribunal to the higher tribunal of the conscience. The German must be allowed to drink his lager-beer unmolested, the young men to chew tobacco, the negro to be educated (as he will be) to a high condition. In one word a national party must be national, dealing only with the general policy. We lost one of the largest counties of Ohio for something about lager-beer, and the City of Philadelphia was lost from the same cause. The Republican Party must at once return to its proper business of providing national measures for the restoration and prosperity of the country.

2. I come now to a cause which interests the City of New-York and the State of New-York profoundly, and upon which they should be careful. I have said in a former letter, and Mr. Seward said the same thing, that the people of the West do not care particularly about the interest of the East Atlantic more than that of the South. They will not be careful to guard the great monyed interests of New-York; Hence, if the monyed men of New-York choose, as they have for a few years, to support the Democratic Party, they must take what the Democratic Party brings; and in the West, I tell you, it has neither a principle nor an instinct which will lead it to preserve the public credit, or sustain the national integrity. Hence the Democratic leaders in Ohio openly proposed and insisted upon it to pay the whole national debt with greenbacks, the result of which any sane man can see would be the financial ruin of the country. This was the second cause of the Republican default. You cannot propose to men anything more agreeable that to give them plenty of money, and those who do not understand the principles of finance cannot see why this cannot be done. Thousands of men have made money in the war by the issue of paper money, and now they find themselves reduced down to the old fashioned way of doing things by the gradual reduction of the paper currency, and one and all, Republican and Democrat, go for new issues of paper. If they do see, that it is alike ruinous to both money holder and laborer, they think themselves shrewd enough to make money as they did before. Now I tell you that if the Democratic and Republican men of mind and influence in New-York do not forthwith breast themselves against the current now running, you will, before two years are over see the greatest financial crash ever, seen in this or any country. You will get no help from the West if you do not manfully and faithfully come to the defence of the credit and honor of the country. I see no way to do this but by defeating the Democratic Party in New-York. The largest party of the wealthy and conservative men of the City of New-York have been supporting and dallying with totally unprincipled leaders of Democracy till they are on the verge of being brought to ruin themselves. The Republicans will no longer sustain them against the coming shock of a ruinous policy if they will do nothing for themselves. It is the real interest of the Republican Party (as a party) to fall in with the popular current and let the wave of folly roll on. It will be the duty of Congress next winter to promptly take up the financial question, check its own reckless expenditures, equalize the taxes and return to the economy necessary to Republican government; but, in relation to paper currency, they will follow the popular demand. If New-York, one of the greatest commercial States in the world, does not want the National Banks wound up, the legal-tenders issued indefinitely, and the whole financial system of the country thrown into utter confusion, Conservatives, Radicals, capitalists and merchants must unite while they can to defeat the schemes of the present Democratic leaders. You may rely on my testimony, who know the men and the machinery, that you cannot trust the Western Democracy for any principle whatever necessary to good government. I do not mean to say that it has not good men and sensible, but that, as an organization, it has no principle, moral or political.

3. After the negro suffrage, and the greenback question, there was another cause of Republican defeat, perhaps more potent than either. This was an almost total want of organization. This, however, was an effect as well as a cause. When the Republicans were divided on the amendment and greenback questions, and displeased with the unequal system of taxation, it followed, almost of course, they could not be well organized. They were not, and lost thousands of votes from want of the common political machinery.

I have now stated the true causes of the Republican failure in Ohio. The best thing the Republican Party can have now is to understand clearly its own blunders. It must leave negro suffrage alone. Let lager-beer alone. It must take up the financial question and treat it honestly and fairly. It must equalize taxation. Then it can nominate any fair man for the Presidency in 1868, and elect him triumphantly, and this, I believe, will be done.

LOCAL POLITICS.

Union Republican County Convention—Nominations for Sheriff and County Clerk.

The Union Republican County Convention was held last evening at the rooms, corner Twenty-second-street and Broadway, Judge James W. Culver in the chair. The various districts were fully represented.

Two sets of delegates having presented themselves from the Twenty-first District, a lively discussion ensued. Finally the Convention agreed to admit the delegates whose credentials were signed by the President and Secretary of the District Convention. The Chairman of the delegates admitted was Wm. H. De Camp.

The Convention took an informal vote for Sheriff. The result was—105 for Joshua G. Abbe, 27 for William Howe, Jr., 14 for John W. Farmer, and 5 scattering. Mr. Abbe was then nominated for the office by acclamation.

The informal ballot for County Clerk resulted in 81 votes for Major Jas. L. Haggerty, 34 for Spencer Kirby, 23 for Gen. Dennis F. Burke, and 9 for Col. James Fairman.

A motion to nominate Major Haggerty by acclamation was voted down, and much time was consumed by delegates in advocating the military and civic merits and competency of the respective candidates.

On the formal ballot Major Haggerty received 91 votes; Gen. Burke, 20; and Spencer Kirby, 14. Major Haggerty was then chosen as the nominee by acclamation.

On an informal ballot for Supervisor, Isaac J. Oliver received 59 votes; Gen. Frederick T. Locke, 27; William H. McKinny, 49, and Martin B. Brown, 9.

Two attempts were made to choose a candidate by a formal vote, but in each instance the correctness of the Secretary's tally was doubted, and in the midst of the confusion the Convention adjourned.

The Democratic Union Senatorial Nominations.

The Democratic Union Senatorial Conventions met last evening to make nominations for the State Senate. In every instance the delegations were full and well organized.

The Fourth Senatorial District Convention, consisting of delegates from the First, Second, Third, Fourth, Fifth, Sixth, Seventh, Thirteenth and Fourteenth Wards, met at the Fifth Ward Hotel, and after organizing, adjourned, without making any nomination, till Friday night.

The Convention of the Fifth Senatorial District, comprising the Eighth, Ninth, Fifteenth and Sixteenth Wards, was held at the Adriatic, corner of Barrow and Hudson streets. Mr. John Purcell occupied the chair. A full delegation from each Ward was present. On motion, Charles Blauvelt, Esq., (member of the last Assembly,) was nominated by acclamation and was unanimously declared the choice of the Convention.

The Convention of the Sixth Senatorial District, comprising the Tenth, Eleventh and Seventeenth Wards, met at the Tenth Ward Hotel, corner of Broome and Forsyth streets, and appointed a committee of fifteen to consult with the outside organizations, and adjourned to Monday next.

The Seventh Senatorial District Convention, comprising the Eighteenth, Twentieth and Twenty-first Wards, nominated John Hardy.

The Convention of the Eighth Senatorial District, comprising the Twelfth, Nineteenth and Twenty-second Wards, met at Temperance Hall, in Third-avenue, between Sixtieth and Sixty-first-streets. No nomination was made and the Convention adjourned to Wednesday, 23d inst.

Trouble Among the Brooklyn Democrats.

The Democrats had about nine thousand majority in Kings County last year, and they bid fair to use it up this Fall on their local contest. There is a faction called the "Regulars," and another called the "Nationals," and they are at loggerheads over the nominations on the County ticket. The German Democrats think, too, that they ought to have at least one place among the county nominations, and they are furious over the contemptuous manner in which the General Committee of the Regulars has received the proposition. A communication from the Nationals to the Regulars received the same treatment. The probabilities are that the Germans and the Nationals will unite and make independent nominations, or make overtures to the Republicans for a fusion local ticket, which, under the circumstances, would be certain of success. The managers of the Regulars have arranged that McLaughlin shall be the candidate for Register, Troy for County Judge and White for County Clerk. The Nationals are running Thomas Giddings for Register. The Germans demanded the County Judgeship on the Democratic ticket. Their candidate is John Hess, a prominent Brooklyn lawyer, whose father was one of the first German settlers of that city. There is also a great strife over the Mayoralty, Kalbfleisch declaring that he will have the nomination at all hazards, and spending money like water to back up his assertion, while at the same time he is not popular with any branch of the party. His opponent is Alderman Voorhies, who is working like a beaver, as are also his friends, with every confidence in their success. From present appearances, things are decidedly mixed with the Brooklyn Democrats, and if the Republicans use judicious management they can undoubtedly secure some of the county offices.

Mozart Nominations.

A meeting was held by the Mozart Assembly Convention for the Seventeenth District last evening, at the corner of Ninth-avenue and Fiftieth-street, for the purpose of nominating a candidate for member of assembly. Mr. John B. Kelly acted as Chairman, and Charles O'Neil as Secretary. After some debate Mr. Henry Flagg was unanimously nominated for election amid much enthusiasm.

Meeting of Liquor-Dealers.

Yesterday afternoon a meeting of liquor dealers was held at the Casino in Houston-street. There was a large attendance. Hon Julius Korn took the chair. Anti-temperance and anti-Sabbatarian addresses were delivered by Drs. Kuehne, of Richmond, Va., and Meijer, of New-Jersey. An attempt was then made to nominate a candidate for the Sixth Senatorial District, comprising the Tenth, Eleventh and Seventeenth Wards. The choice of a candidate was referred to a Committee of three from each of the above wards, who, however, failed to agree, the Committee of one ward, the Tenth, presenting the name of Mr. McKinley, Secretary of the New-York Liquor-Dealers' Society, while the others recommended Mr. Thomas Creamer. Both candidates were heard in their own behalf, but the assembly failed to make a choice. After an exciting discussion and much confusion, the meeting adjourned.

McKeon Democratic Convention.

The McKeon branch of the New-York Democracy held an adjourned meeting at Masonic Hall last evening, for the purpose of making county nominations. They could not agree, and one portion seceded and met down stairs in the billiard room and placed Col. James Bagley in the chair, when Michael Connolly was unanimously nominated for Sheriff. The meeting then adjourned until Wednesday evening.

The other party, presided over by T. McSpeddon, made the following nominations: For Sheriff, T. M. Ferris; for County Clerk, W. P. Conner; Supervisor, T. McSpeddon; for Coroners, B. Purdy, Michael Halpin and Jos. W. Lamb, and for District Attorney, A. Oakey Hall.

The Union Home and School.

Yesterday afternoon, about fifty boys, ranging from 6 to 12 years of age, inmates of the Union Home and School, in Fifty-seventh-street, were reviewed by Mayor Hoffman in the City Hall Park. The lads wore light grey uniforms and carried small wooden sabres. They were headed by a drum corps and a very small boy dressed à la Zouave. The Mayor having taken his station in front of the City Hall, the boys formed in line, when one of them stepped forward and introduced his comrades as inmates of the Union Home and School for the education and maintenance of the children of our volunteers. The young orator explained the objects of the institution, of which Mrs. Gen. U. S. Grant is President and which has been organized and will be supported by the charity of our citizens. The Mayor replied, briefly saying that he hoped the inmates of the institution would live to serve their country as bravely and faithfully as their fathers had done before them, should their services ever be required. The lads received the Mayor's speech with a "hurrah," and afterward went through the broadsword exercise and several evolutions very creditably, pointing their swords and charging on the surrounding crowd in the most gallant manner. They afterward visited the Governor's Room in the City Hall and inspected the pictures and other works of art therein.

Board of Audit.

The Metropolitan Board of Audit met yesterday, Mr. Depew presiding.

The claim of the Staats Zeitung for advertising was received, and the evidence showed that the amount, $8,563 50, had accumulated for a number of years, the rates varying from five cents to fifteen cents per line.

The sum of $2,726 69 was charged by the Journal of Commerce for advertising. The book-keeper of the Journal of Commerce testified that he had found the items on the books, and that beyond that fact he knew nothing of the claim.

The Scandinavian Post filed a bill for $7 80 for an advertisement sent from the Mayor's office duly authorized.

The Franco American presented a claim for the sum of $1,506 10, the several bills being charged at the rate of ten cents per line, no matter what the number of insertions. The bills had accumulated since 1864.

Mr. Lawrence Clancey, brother of the late John Clancey, filed a bill on behalf of the estate of John Clancey amounting to $251 20, against the County, and $180 against the City. It appeared that the Leader passed from the estate of John Clancey to its present owners on the 1st of August, 1864.

Mr. Cole appeared as the claimant on behalf of the Irish American, his bill amounting to $1,403 17. His application was declared informal, and he was directed to proceed with the presentation of his claim in accordance with the rules of the Board.

The New-York Daily News was represented by Mr. Henry E. Lynch, who certified to bills amounting to $3,133. The greater portion of the advertisements charged for on this claim were printed by order of the Clerk of the Board of Supervisors, the terms being at the rate of 15 cents per line for each insertion. The News was not a county paper except to the extent of publishing the documents authorized by the Clerk of the Supervisors. The News was a City corporation paper, but advertisements from the departments were understood not to come within the terms of the resolution of the Boards of the Common Council. The weekly mortality reports of City Inspector Boole were charged at the rate of $18 per week.

The Board adjourned till to-day at 12 o'clock.

BROOKLYN NEWS.

Daring Burglary.—About 9:30 o'clock last night Officer Curran, of the Forty-first Precinct, while on his beat in Henry-street, near Remsen, noticed a man coming out of the basement door of the house of Mrs. Jackson, on the corner of Henry and Remsen streets. Knowing that the family were absent in the country, the officer went to the door and asked the man what he was doing there. He made an evasive answer, when the officer tried the door, and finding it open, went to arrest the man. The latter attempted to give him a blow with an iron "jimmy," but fortunately missed, him and then fled, throwing down in his flight a parcel which he had in his hand. The officer pursued him for several blocks, and finally captured him, just as Roundsman Riggs came up. He was taken to the Station-house, and on searching him a number of pawn tickets were found, and also a paper with a description of Mrs. Jackson's house, and another one in Clinton-street. He gave his name as Chas. Langdon. The parcel which he dropped was picked up by two confederates who were waiting for him outside of the house. Officer Riggs examined the house, and found a full set of burglar's tools near the basement door. The house had been completely ransacked.

The Common Council.—At the regular meeting of the Brooklyn Board of Aldermen held last evening, a communication was received from Mr. A. A. Low, and a large number of prominent citizens, calling the attention of the Board to the bad condition of the streets of the city—more particularly the public thoroughfares—in regard to paving. They asked that a special committee should be appointed to take the matter into consideration. This brought up the vexed matter of the Nicholson pavement, and after some discussion, the communication was referred to the Committee on Paving and Grading in connection with the Mayor. The matter of the purchase of the Delaplaine property at Gowanus, for the sum of $50,000, for the purpose of a Truant Home, was brought up on a motion to reconsider the action of the previous meeting, in ordering the purchase of the property. The motion was carried, and the matter was referred to the Law Committee and made the special order for next meeting. An appropriation of $500 was made for a portrait of Mayor Booth, after which the Board adjourned.

Accident.—A man named Edward Calor, residing in Warren-street, near Nevins, was seriously injured last evening by being run over by a horse and wagon at the corner of Fulton and Hudson avenues. He was conveyed to his residence by Officer Payne, of the Forty-fourth Precinct.

Registration.—The Boards of Registry will meet to-day at the several places designated by law, and every voter must appear in person if he desires to insure the enrolling of his name.

Human Body Found.—A coffin containing a skull and other portions of a body, buried in 1846, was dug up between Park-avenue and Park-place yesterday morning. The Coroner took charge of it.

Yellow Fever.—The concert in aid of the sufferers by yellow fever in Texas will be given to-night at the Brooklyn Institute.

A True and Tried Friend.

We formerly used one of the "———— ————" double-thread sewing-machines; but becoming satisfied that the Willcox & Gibbs was far superior, we at considerable sacrifice exchanged. Have now used the W. & G. several months; it hems, fells, cords, tucks and quilts better than any other machine I have ever seen. It is like a true and tried friend—always on hand and ready to help when needed.—Letter of P. C. Mills, Penn Yan, N. Y., Mar[illegible] 1, 186[illegible].—Adv.

NEW PUBLICATIONS.

HARPER'S BAZAR.
A REPOSITORY OF FASHION, PLEASURE AND INSTRUCTION.

HARPER'S BAZAR, the publication of which has just been commenced by Harper & Brothers, is an Illustrated Weekly Journal, devoted to Fashion and Household Literature.

It is the first Weekly Journal of Fashion ever published in the United States. By arrangements which the Publishers have perfected, at great cost, with the most celebrated European Fashion Journals—particularly with the well-known Bazar of Berlin—Illustrations of Fashions for each week of the year will appear in Harper's Bazar simultaneously with their publication in Paris and Berlin; an advantage which will belong exclusively to this Journal.

In a country where Three Hundred Millions of Dollars are annually expended for dry-goods, to be transformed into Articles of Dress, trustworthy and practical instructions as to the most tasteful and economical methods of fashioning these articles become of the greatest value to American women. The Bazar will contain full and explicit Instructions, with Illustrations, which will enable every Lady Reader to cut and make her own and her children's entire wardrobe, with a large portion of her husband's. Each alternate Number will be accompanied with large Pattern Plates, containing from Forty to Fifty full-sized Patterns, applicable to every article of wardrobe made in the family, with the necessary Directions for cutting and making. Similar Illustrations and descriptions of Fancy work will also be furnished. These Patterns will be executed in Paris and Berlin, and will surpass any thing of the kind hitherto produced in this country. Frequently an elegant Colored Fashion Plate will be presented with the paper. Practical Descriptions will also be given of the Fashions especially in vogue in New-York—the centre of Fashion in America.

Harper's Bazar, besides being the leading Fashion Journal in this country, will also aim to present before its readers the very best specimens of Household Literature. It will contain original and selected Serial Stories, Poetry, Novelettes, Articles on the Topics of the Day (excluding Politics,) on Books, Art, Morals, Familiar Science, Education, Amusements, Hygiene, Etiquette, Housekeeping, Gardening, with Home and Foreign Gossip. No subject of household interest will be excluded from its columns.

In the first Number of the Bazar will be commenced a Novel, entitled "The Cord and the Creese; or, The Brandon Mystery," by James De Mille, Esq., Author of "The Dodge Club." This Novel has been read in manuscript by several of our most competent critics, who unanimously pronounce it, in point of interest of plot, variety of adventure, and graphic delineation of character, to be fully equal to any of the novels of Wilkie Collins.

Harper's Bazar will contain 16 folio pages, of the size of Harper's Weekly, printed on superfine calendered paper, and will be published weekly, at ten cents per single Number, or Four Dollars per Year.

☞ Ladies in the country will be supplied gratuitously through the mails with the First Six Numbers of Harper's Bazar upon written application to the Publishers.

Postage, Five Cents for Three Months.

Single Subscribers will be supplied from the beginning to the end of the year 1868, which will complete the first Volume, for the yearly price of Four Dollars.

An Extra Copy will be supplied gratis for every Club of Five Subscribers, at Four Dollars each, in one remittance, or, Six Copies for Twenty Dollars.

We are now offering beautifully situated lots with river and street frontages at fair prices. We are also prepared to contract for the erection of houses from $3,000 and upwards, and from the decrease in the value of building materials generally, together with great facilities of machinery, &c., we can do so very reasonably. Situated at Flushing, Queens County, L. I., by order of the executors of William Hamilton, deceased.

EDWARD A. LAWRENCE will sell at public auction, to the highest bidder, for cash, on WEDNESDAY, Oct. 16, on the premises, in the village of Flushing, the following desirable property:

One grist mill, a well-built frame building, 87x40, four stories, with six run of stone; a saw mill attached, 30x18, five stories, in good order, both doing a large business; two large, well-built barns, one 68x21, the other 36x18; one English basement two-story and attic frame house, filled in, 38x25, with wing and subcellar. The mansion is a well-built two-story frame house, 32x25, with wing, in perfect order, both handsomely situated on Clinton-av. Also, 20 finely-located building lots of various sizes, fronting on Clinton and Myrtle avs; also, 500 feet of the most valuable slips and dock property at Flushing, accessible to vessels of 300 tons.

The desirable location of this water power and dock property, together with its accessibility to the City, it being but six miles over a splendid avenue to Hunter's Point Ferry, with hourly trains over the Flushing Railroad, and frequent steamboat communication to New-York, render it for distillery store-houses, coal or lumber yard, or manufacturing purposes of any kind, unequaled in the vicinity of New-York.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

The Alleged Poisoning Case in Brooklyn.

There are but few further particulars in the case of poisoning by an overdose of morphine, as reported in yesterday's paper. Investigation develops the fact that Mrs. WEBSTER, the deceased, had for a long time been an invalid, and in the habit of procuring medicine at the drug-store of Mrs. E. P. BOYD. Mrs. BOYD's husband and clerk is named ROBERT M. KENNEDY, a man 48 years of age, who for thirty years and more has been in the drug business, having served an apprenticeship of seven years in Scotland, of which country he is a native. Our reporter visited him at the jail, and learned from him that the deceased was known to him as a woman who suffered very keenly at times from neuralgic affection, and who had taken morphine before. The little girl represented that her mother was in great bodily pain at that time, and remarked that she did not know but death might ensue before her return home. Mr. KENNEDY designed to give the woman two grains of morphine to take in two doses, of one grain each. He inclosed the drug, but before he could write the directions upon the package his attention was called by other customers, and the little girl, thinking all was right, took the morphine, unseen by him, and left the store. Not knowing her residence, he could not send the directions, and as he did not consider the dose a heavy one, he felt no concern in the matter.

Dr. A. W. SHEPHARD and Dr. BUEL held a post mortem examination yesterday, and came to the conclusion that the undoubted cause of Mrs. WEBSTER's death was an overdose of morphine. Mr. KENNEDY is therefore held to await the result of the coroner's inquest, which will be held to-day. Mrs. WEBSTER left a husband and nine children.

Progress of Medical Science.

This was the subject of an introductory to the course of lectures about to commence before the Medical Department of the New-York University, delivered by Prof. LOOMIS, last evening, before a large audience of ladies and gentlemen, at the temporary hall of the University, in the rear of the City Hospital. The science of Medicine, whose history dates back 22 centuries, was now, said the speaker, undergoing great changes, and the medical student of the present day entered upon his studies in what might be called an era of reconstruction. Old landmarks were passing away, and the changes going on in medical science were synonymous with progress, which could not be said of all changes. There was no more ignorant fallacy than the prevailing idea that the science of medicine remained stationary. An eminent clergyman was complaining of this to the speaker not long since, and actually had the hardihood to say that the only progress medical science had made was owing to Homœopathy. So far from its being true that the science of medicine had remained stationary, it was in fact almost the only art or profession in which there had been any progress. The chief progress made in this age was in the physical sciences, and it was with these sciences that medicine was so closely related, and from which it drew its largest contributions of wealth and advancement. In literature there had been but little progress; modern writers did not surpass the classics; modern orators could not equal DEMOSTHENES and CICERO, modern poets were excelled by HOMER and VIRGIL. Sculpture had failed to produce a modern PHIDIAS or PRAXITELES; astronomy had improved very little upon LA PLACE; law had learned little since BLACKSTONE and Lord MANSFIELD; writers on moral science drew their chief inspiration from the old authors. But the science of medicine had progressed with most rapid strides during the last half century. It had lengthened human life, diminished human suffering, and improved the sanitary condition and general health of mankind to an extent that was perfectly surprising. The statistics of Paris proved that medical science had increased longevity 71 per cent since 1805. In London the deaths in 1760 were one in 20 of the population per annum; now they were one in 40. There was a greater difference in the average longevity between the Eighteenth and Nineteenth century in London than there was between a year of general health in that city and a year of cholera. The speaker then dwelt at length upon the specific discoveries in medicine that had been instrumental in advancing medical science—referring particularly to the discoveries of SAIANEYA, in oscultation; of BRIGHT, in the structural changes of the kidneys, &c.; of MARSHALL HALL, in connection with the nervous system, &c. The aids to true diagnosis, which was the corner-stone of successful medical practice, had been incalculably increased during the last half century, and still further progress in this direction was constantly being made.

Prof. LOOMIS closed his lecture by impressing upon the students the importance of industry and careful observation during their student life, reminding them that nearly all the eminent Professors of Medical Science had begun their discoveries while studying their profession.

The lecture was listened to with deep attention by all. Among the audience were Chancellor FERRIS, and Profs. PAINE, G. W. DRAPER, DARLING, POST, BUDD, LEWIS and others of the Medical Faculty of the University.

The course of lectures will commence to-day by a lecture from Prof. LOOMIS on the "Practice of Medicine."

Laying the Corner-Stone of a New Chapel.

The corner-stone of the new Methodist Episcopal Mission Chapel, in East Eleventh-street, near Avenue B, was laid yesterday afternoon in the presence of a large concourse of persons, Rev. Bishop JANES performing the ceremony. Impressive and eloquent addresses were delivered by Bishop JANES and Rev. C. D. FOSS. Mr. W. W. CORNELL, President of the New-York City Sunday-school Missionary Society of the M. E. Church, made a very appropriate address relating to the Society over which he presides, stating that it has under its supervision a Mission with 500 members, most of whom have been converted through the labors of the missionaries employed by the Society; 11 Sunday-schools, with over 300 officers and teachers and 2,400 children in the schools. The Society is entitled by its charter to hold real estate, and owns at present over forty thousand dollars' worth.

The Eleventh-street Chapel, when completed, will have cost $20,000, which it is expected will be raised by liberal personal subscriptions. Many of the churches of New-York and Brooklyn were represented by their pastors and eminent laymen. Among others were Rev. Messrs. WOODRUFF, F. BROWN, MATTISON, PARKER, SING, ROSS, C. S. BRIGGS, HOLLIS, Presiding Elder H. F. PEASE and J. W. HORNE. The City Sunday-school and Missionary Society was represented by Messrs. W. K. PEYTON, CHAS. APPLEGATE, JOEL SAMMIS, LUKE SHARP and others. The music was furnished by mission children, led by Mr. PHILIP PHILLIPS.

GENERAL CITY NEWS.

INTERNAL REVENUE SEIZURES.—The following seizures were reported yesterday at the office of the Metropolitan Board of Internal Revenue: Eleven barrels of whisky at No. 184 South-street, because they were offered for sale at $1 75 per gallon, while the Government tax alone is $2 per gallon, and the cost of manufacture is supposed to still further increase that sum. An illicit distillery in Graham-street, near Flushing-avenue, Brooklyn. One barrel of New-England rum found branded for export. Fifty barrels of highwines on a lighter lying at Greenpoint. The bonds for this lot have been canceled, and the Government can only obtain the tax now by getting possession of the wines. The Board meets to-day.

THE SALE OF MRS. LINCOLN'S WARDROBE, &C.—The effects of Mrs LINCOLN were exposed for sale yesterday in the rooms of Mr. BRADY, diamond broker, No. 609 Broadway. They consisted of a number of dresses, shawls, laces and several sets of jewelry. A number of persons, chiefly ladies, called during the day and examined them, but clearly with no other motive than the gratification of their curiosity, as there were no purchases made of sufficient importance to note. Failing to sell the effects by private sale, it is the purpose of the custodian of the goods to dispose of them by auction at the end of this month.

BURGLAR CAUGHT.—On Saturday night the stable of JOHN MCLARE, at Tremont, was entered and robbed of a harness valued at $200. Yesterday the officers attached to the Tremont Sub-Station, arrested a man giving the name of JAMES MCCAFERTY, on suspicion that he was the guilty person. The officers upon investigation, found a portion of the harness under the floor of the stable where MCCAFERTY was employed. The foot-prints left by the burglar in the soft ground and leading from the stable of Mr. MCLARE to the place where the harness was found, led to the detection of the burglar.

RESIGNATION OF JUDGE CARDOZO.—Judge CARDOZO, of the Court of Common Pleas, yesterday, sent in his resignation to the Governor to take effect immediately. He is to be the candidate of all sections of the Democratic Party for Judge of the Supreme Court at the coming election, and he resigns his present position in order that the vacancy may be filled at the next election, the law requiring that notice of an election to fill a vacancy shall be given twenty days before the day of election.

RAILROAD REFORM.—A public meeting will be held at Cooper Institute, Thursday evening, with a view to securing an improved system of management of railroads, by which, it is thought, they can be made to accomplish a much greater degree of work, and the cost of transportation can be greatly reduced. It is expected that Gov. ANDREW, of Massachusetts, JOSIAH QUINCY, Gov. FLETCHER, of Missouri, and other prominent gentlemen will address the meeting.

THE EXCISE LAW.—At the usual weekly meeting of pastors of the Methodist Episcopal Churches of New York and Brooklyn, held yesterday morning at the "Book Room" in Mulberry street, it was resolved that the subject of the morning sermon in each of the Methodist churches, on the last Sunday of October, will be "The Observance of the Sabbath, with special reference to the Excise Law."

FATAL ACCIDENT.—Last evening, at 9 o'clock, G. A. ROBINSON, real estate agent at No. 85 Nassau street, was killed near Williamsbridge Station by the freight train of the New-Haven Railroad. He was walking up the track at the time, and did not appear to notice the approaching train. The body was taken in charge by the Station Agent.

The Hudson River Collision.

In your issue of Saturday last appears some correspondence giving an account of a Coroner's inquest held over the remains of WILLIAM RYAN, a fireman on board of the Dean Richmond. It stated that the Coroner, BERNARD MCREYNOLDS, Esq., after the remains had been found, impaneled a jury, and took only the evidence of some of the officers of the Dean Richmond.

No notice whatever of the inquest was given to the officers or owners of the C. Vanderbilt, nor any effort made to secure their testimony. It must be apparent to every unprejudiced mind (as it was to the writer in question) that such an inquest was irregular and wholly ex parte, and as an investigation for the satisfaction of the ends of justice and of the public mind, entirely useless.

The parties examined before that jury were persons deeply and personally interested in having their actions justified as well before the public as before the United States Steamboat Inspectors of this district, who had power to revoke their pilots' licenses.

Why any Coroner should not satisfy the public excitement on this subject by failing to hold a proper inquest, at which should be summoned all the officers of the other boat, as well as passengers on board, and to thoroughly examine them, seems to me, and must to every reader of your journal, appear to be, to say the least, very strange. It looks rather like an effort to repress a thorough and searching investigation into the causes which produced the collision.

The owners of the C. Vanderbilt court and are anxious for an investigation which will satisfy the traveling public as to who are to blame in thus jeopardizing so many lives. On their behalf, until that investigation takes place, I ask that the public suspend their judgment.

From the evidence now in my possession, which I am ready to produce at the proper time and place, it will be shown that not only are there two sides to this case, but that the officers and those in charge of the C. Vanderbilt are not to blame a particle for that collision. Therefore, as the result of that singular inquest, without hearing our side of the case, is calculated to mislead public opinion to the injury of the owners and officers of the C. Vanderbilt, I would thank you to publish the foregoing remarks.

I beg leave to subscribe myself your obedient servant,
D. McMAHON,
Of counsel for the owners of the C. Vanderbilt.

The Printers' Strike in Brooklyn—The Assaults Denied.

BROOKLYN, Monday, Oct. 14, 1867.

An item under the heading of "Brooklyn News," in reference to the printers' strike in this city, in your issue of this morning, contains some misstatements which, if allowed to go uncontradicted, are calculated to do great injustice to the Typograpical Union and its members, and place them before the public in anything but a favorable light. The article states that one of the newly-engaged men was waylaid and badly beaten, and that Mr. COOPER, of the Union, was assaulted by one of the printers, who was said to have been arrested by a policeman. I take the liberty to deny that any of those who have been induced to accept work in any of the offices have been assaulted by any member of the Union, or through their connivance, and I have yet to learn that any of them have been waylaid and badly beaten by any person. As to the assault on one of the clerks of the Union, the gentleman above referred to (Mr. COOPER) denies it himself, and is astonished that such a story has been published. The men now on strike intend to conduct it on a peaceable plan, and are careful to avoid doing anything that may tend to place them in an unfavorable position before the public, deeming it the best way to induce the newspaper proprietors to accede to their just demands.

Hoping you will, as a matter of justice, insert the above, I am, yours, &c., JOHN TAYLOR,
President Brooklyn Typo. Union, No. 98.

UNITED STATES SUPREME COURT.

ADMIRALTY—STATE INTERPRETATION OF LOCAL STATUTES AND THE SUPREME COURT—RES ADJUDICATA—DEMURRER.

Goodrich & Drew vs. The City of Chicago.—Appeal from the Circuit Court for the Northern District of Illinois. This action was brought against the City of Chicago, in personam, to recover damages sustained by the steamboat Huron, owned by the plaintiffs, by reason of a sunken wreck at or near the mouth of the Chicago River, and inside one of the city piers, which came in contact with the steamer, and sunk her. On trial in the District Court the cause was sustained, and judgment was given for the libelants for some $13,000. Appeal was taken to the Circuit Court, where the decree of the District Court was reversed, and the libel ordered to be dismissed, for the following reasons: Goodrich and Drew had previously sued the city, at law, in the Circuit Court of Cook County, for the very matter for which they now sued in admiralty. The declaration set forth the same cause of action, and asserted the same legal obligation resting on the city to remove obstructions from the harbor, and, until removed, to place signals to indicate danger. In that Court, on demurrer, the judgment was for the City, and the case was taken to the Supreme Court of the State, where the judgment was affirmed, the Court saying: "To maintain this action we must hold that the City is bound to exercise all the authority conferred, (by the charter,) and to do all the acts which it authorizes. Such, we are satisfied, was not the intention of the Legislature. The very extent of the powers conferred, and the magnitude and expense of the work which they are authorized to perform in reference to the harbor show that it was never the intention of the Legislature to impose the absolute obligation upon the city to perform it all; then no part is imperative; for no authority is vested anywhere, except in the Common Council of the city, to say what is necessary, expedient and proper that they shall perform." The Circuit Court of the United States regarded this as an authoritative adjudication, denying that there is an obligation imposed by law on the city to remove obstructions from its river and harbor. The Court said: "If this question was an open one in this State, I should have no hesitation in holding that a legal obligation is imposed upon the city to remove obstructions from the river, and that it is bound to make full redress to every person who is injured by reason of its failure to perform this duty. I think that the true interests of commerce and the best interests of the city would be promoted by such a construction, and that it is sanctioned by principle and authority. The Supreme Court of the United States has always held that the Federal Judiciary will adopt the construction which the highest court of a State places on one of its own statutes. If, then, the question is settled in Illinois, I must suppose it to be rightly settled." It was also held that the matter was res adjudicata; that the libelants could not again litigate in admiralty the same matters that were decided at common law; that the judgment on demurrer was a judgment on the merits. It decides that the action will not lie, and not that the cause of action is not well stated.

Mr. Justice SWAYNE delivered the opinion of the Court.

This is an appeal in admiralty from a decree of the Circuit Court of the United States for the Northern District of Illinois. In the view we have taken of the case it will be necessary to consider but a single point. The appellants filed their libel to recover damages for the sinking of the steamer Huron in the Chicago River near its mouth. The casualty was caused by the steamer running against a sunken wreck. The libel alleges that it was the duty of the city to have it removed, and that it was guilty of negligence in not having done so. It alleges further, that the city entered upon the work of removal, but abandoned it before the work was accomplished. Among the defences set up by the answer of the respondent, was that of a final judgment in the Supreme Court of Illinois, upon a general demurrer to a declaration in an action at law by the appellants against the respondent for the same cause of action. The Court below sustained the defence, and upon this ground—and another not necessary to be stated—dismissed the libel. The record of the action at law is found among the proofs of this case. Upon a careful examination of the declaration and of the libel, we are constrained to say there is no such difference in the cases which they respectively make, as can take this case out of the operation of the principles of res judicata. (Dutchess of Kingston case and notes; 2 Smith's leading cases, 424; Bandernagle vs. Cox, 19 Wendell, 208.) Whatever the result might be here, if this obstacle were out of the way, we have no choice but to apply the law in this as in other cases. The decree below is affirmed with costs.

UNITED STATES CIRCUIT COURT—SOUTHERN DISTRICT.

Before Judge Nelson.

IMPORTANT TO MERCANTILE AGENCIES—LIBEL—PRIVILEGED COMMUNICATION.

John Beardsley and Horace Beardsley vs. Lewis Tappan.—This was a motion for a new trial on a bill of exceptions. The case was commenced in 1849, and was for libel and slander, as appears in the opinion It was tried in November, 1851, before Judge Betts and a jury, Messrs Cutting and Owen and Ogden Hoffman being counsel for the plaintiffs, and B. F. Butler for the defendant. The trial lasted over a fortnight. It may be recollected that during it Benjamin Douglas, the managing agent of the defendant, refused to divulge the name of the correspondent who had given the information, and was committed to prison for contempt of Court, and the trial went on without his testimony. It resulted in a verdict for the plaintiff of $10,000. The defendant moved for a new trial, which motion was heard by Judge NELSON in November, 1864. The following is his opinion denying the motion:

NELSON, C. J.—This was a suit against Tappan for libel and slander of the defendants in respect to their credit as a mercantile firm, carrying on business in Norwalk, Huron County, Ohio. The defendant resided in New-York, and had established in that City a mercantile agency, the object of which was to procure information of the pecuniary ability and standing of merchants in the country for merchants in the City, to be communicated to the latter in a confidential manner. The defendant had some twenty clerks who participated in the business of the establishment, and were, of course, privy to the information obtained, whether favorable or unfavorable, to the character and credit of the country merchant; and who participated in the communications of the information to their customers or customers' clerks.

The defendant communicated through his clerks to several customers and to their clerks facts seriously affecting the credit of the plaintiff's house; and the main question in the case, on the merits, is whether or not he is exempt from the consequences of the publication, on the ground of its privileged character. The Court charged the jury that if the defendant himself had communicated the information to a person applying to him for the papers in good faith, the communication might have been a privileged one; but that the publicity given to it by recording the libelous words in a book, to which others had access, and to whom they were communicated, though standing in the relation of clerks deprived the communication of its otherwise privileged character. This is no doubt a very important question and involves in its practical operation, whichever way it may be decided, interests of very great magnitude. On the one hand, to legalize these establishments in the manner and to the extent used by the defendant, is placing one portion of the mercantile community under an organized system of espionage and inquisition for the benefit of the other, exposed, from the very nature of the organization, to perversion and abuse; and, on the other, to refuse to legalize them may be restricting injuriously the right of inquiring into the character and standing of the customer asking for credit in his business transactions. We are strongly inclined to think, if the establishments are to be upheld at all, the limitation attached to them by the Court below is not unreasonable, to wit, that it must be an individual transaction, and not an establishment conducted by an unlimited number of partners and clerks.

The principle upon which privileged communications rest, which, of themselves, would otherwise be libelous, imports confidence and secrecy between individuals; and is inconsistent with the idea of a communication made by a society or congregation of persons, or by a private company or corporate body.

The other objections in the case are technical in their character, not involving the merits. We have looked into them, and are of opinion they are not available to the defendant. New trial denied.

For plaintiffs, Mr. Lord; for defendants, Mr. Barker and Mr. O'Connor.

MOTION FOR NEW TRIAL—AUTHORITY OF AGENT—RATIFICATION.

Edwin A. C. Hatch vs. Thomas B. Coddington et al.—NELSON, C. J.—This case, though somewhat voluminous, and presenting a great variety of objections raised in the progress of the trial by the defendants, lies, as it respects the merits, within the limits of a few propositions, which we think not difficult, upon facts not in dispute. The suit is brought to recover forty-five Minnesota State bonds of the amount of $1,000 each, which it is claimed were wrongfully withheld by the defendants. The plaintiff showed title to these bonds, derived from the Minnesota and Pacific Railroad, to whom they were issued by the State. The first transfer was to S. Chamberlin from the Company on the 13th May 1859, and on the same day from him to the plaintiff.

The main ground of the defence rests upon an agreement entered into between Edmund Rice, the President of the Company, and the defendants, on the 21st of April previous, by which they claimed to have acquired an interest in the bonds, and, therefore, to be entitled to withhold them. The case turns upon the validity of this interest or property set up by the defendants; and this, again, depends upon the authority of Rice to negotiate the bonds and pass the title to these parties.

The history of the transaction is plain and simple. In the Spring of 1859 Rice, the President of the Company, was in Philadelphia negotiating for the purchase of railroad iron, acting under an authority from the Company to make sales or to hypothecate the first mortgage bonds of the Company for this purpose, and in his absence the Acting President of the Company at home having received these bonds from the State, delivered them to Wm. H. Newton, and authorized him to borrow on the credit of the same $16,000 in money, and pay the interest coupons upon the first mortgage bonds of the Company, which fell due on the 1st of April in the City of New-York. This is the only power conferred upon Newton in respect to the bonds in question, or upon any other person. Newton, in pursuance of the power, taking the bonds with him, visited New-York, and opened a negotiation with the defendants, with a view to the transfer of the bonds to them, but not in accordance with his authority. The negotiation was opened in conjunction with Rice, the President, apparently under his authority to purchase iron, and was carried on under this authority, and resulted in the contract in question of the 21st April, 1859. By its terms the company agreed to purchase one thousand tons of railroad iron from the defendants at certain rates, payable cash on delivery; and in order to aid the Company in the construction of its road, the defendants agreed to advance them $16,000, for which its promissory notes were to be given, payable in six months, and the Company agreed to deposit with the defendants forthwith $85,000 of Minnesota State bonds, then belonging to it, as security for said loan, and also for the performance of the contract thus made with the Company for the purchase of iron. This contract, as we have said, was entered into on the 21st April. The next day Rice and Newton left the city for St. Paul, Minn., where they arrived the 28th or 29th of the month. They immediately learned that the forty State bonds at home in the hands of the acting President had been negotiated to raise the $16,000, and on the 30th Rice wrote the defendants that the contract would not be carried into execution, stating as a reason that the forty State bonds had passed out of the hands of the Company. It would take about six or seven days for the letter to reach the City of New-York. So that, assuming the contract to have been originally binding, some fourteen or fifteen days only elapsed before notice of the inability of the Company to execute it.

It will be remembered that the power conferred on Newton to negotiate the forty-five State bonds was in writing, and specific, to borrow upon them $16,000 to pay the interest coupons on the first mortgage bonds that fell due the 1st of April. The power is dated the 18th of March previous. This power Newton had in his possession all the time he was negotiating with the defendants in respect to the purchase of the railroad iron. He states, however, that he never exhibited it to them during the negotiation. But this fact cannot protect the defendants. As the agent's power was in writing, it was their duty to have called for it; and this omission, or the withholding of it by the agent, will not help them. They are chargeable with notice of it as matter of law; otherwise, there would be no security to the principal in dealing through an agent. Newton admits that this was the only authority that he possessed in respect to these bonds. It is sought, however, to avoid the effect of this rule on the ground that the negotiation was not with Nowton, but with Rice, the President of the Company; and that the authority to deal with the forty-five bonds had been conferred on him. His power was called for and exhibited to the defendants. It bears date the 13th of July, 1858, one year before the bonds in question were issued by the State. He was authorized to dispose of the first mortgage bonds of the Company, by sale or pledge, to borrow money and purchase railroad iron, &c.; and to make, on behalf of the Company, such obligations, &c., as would enable him to carry out the powers conferred.

Now, it will be seen from the above that no power is conferred respecting the sale or negotiation of the bonds in question, or of that class of securities; but on the contrary, it appears that the forty-five bonds had been expressly devoted, by competent authority, to a different and specific object; and as the defendants are chargeable with notice of this specific and limited power conferred on Newton, in the light of that written power before them, we are of opinion that they must be regarded as having dealt with Rice, the President of the Company, with a full knowledge of want of authority to dispose of these bonds.

It is worthy of notice in this connection that this negotiation between Rice and defendants originated with Newton. Coddington, the head of the firm, was an old acquaintance; they had had business transactions together, and had at the time. Rice was in bad health, confined to his room, and never saw either of the defendants during the whole of the negotiation. It originated, and was carried on to consummation with Newton, who had been sent by the acting President to the City for the specific and only object of raising the $16,000 on the credit of the forty-five bonds. It is remarkable that in originating this negotiation with the defendants, and even depositing the forty-five bonds with them for safe keeping, that this authority had not occurred to him, and that he had not mentioned it to his friend Coddington, one of the defendants. Nor has he given us in his testimony any reason why he concealed it. It was a gross dereliction of duty both to the Company and to the defendants. He claims that he acted in this negotiation only as the agent of Rice, but according to his evidence he seems to have been a mutual agent, or go-between, carrying back and forth between the respective parties the propositions of each. We think it quite clear, on the evidence, that the jury were justified in finding no authority on the part of Rice or Newton to make the contract concerning these bonds.

It is insisted, however, that if no authority originally existed to make the contract, it was subsequently ratified by the Company. This depends on a construction of the resolutions of the Company, under date of 17th of May, 1859. We have examined these resolutions, and, construing them subjectam materiam, with reference to the subject matter as detailed by the witnesses present, we cannot say that there was any intention to ratify it. It would have been an easy matter to have said so if intended. The Company well knew that Newton had not fulfilled the authority conferred on him; that the forty-five bonds had not been disposed of as directed; and also, that the forty others having been disposed of could not be used as provided for in the contract. It would have been a suicidal act to have ratified it. Though the company did not intend to ratify it, it is apparent they were disposed to arrange the embarrassment that had occurred in a friendly and amicable manner with the defendants; and, for this purpose appointed, at his own solicitation, the same agent who had led to the difficulty by concealing the powers that had been conferred on him, and believed that, by reason of the friendship and kind feeling existing between him and Coddington, the senior member of the firm, a satisfactory arrangement could at once be made. Indeed, he scouted the idea or suggestion of paying him (Coddington) for the trouble and time in negotiating the contract.

Although the evidence in the case was voluminous and extended, covering a great many points in controversy, and which were noticed by the Court in the charge, yet in the end, and with a view to dispose of the case upon the question of fact, which went to the main ground of their defence, it was put distinctly and specifically to the jury, upon the authority to make the contract. After referring to the facts, the Court says: "If you come to the conclusion that there was no authority, and that, therefore, no title to these bonds passed to the defendants, then your verdict will be for the plaintiffs, &c.

Besides the limited power to Newton, Rice had sworn that he had no authority, and that it would be necessary for the Company to approve of it; and for this reason he had directed Newton to deliver the contract conditionally—that is, on condition it should be affirmed by the Company.

As to the question of damages, we perceive no error in the submission. The value was for the jury upon all the evidence before them.

It is complained that the Court, in calling the attention of the jury to the peculiarity of some of the features of the case, did injustice to the defendants. On a review of the observations we see no reason to recall them.

The defendants had sued that Company to recover damages for breach of the contract in a State Court, and had recovered $50,481 92. The contract had run, assuming it valid, about fifteen days, when advice was given of its termination—not a pound of iron had been bought by the defendants, nor a dollar of money advanced in the meantime between the date and the breach, or at any time. The $50,481 92 damages were for the breach, without the plaintiffs in the suit having taken a step toward executing the contract; and, in addition to all this, claimed the right to withhold the forty-five bonds, (on the face $45,000,) as they had refused to deliver them on demand made by the plaintiff in this suit. This is the general aspect in which the case stood before the Court.

The complaint is that the defendants in the suit against the Company for damages for the breach, did not make any allowance for the forty-five bonds, but had reserved them as the property of the plaintiff, to be afterward sold and applied to the judgment. Whether the demand for damages on the contract would be split up in this way it is not material to inquire. We suppose as matter of law, it could not. But that is not a question here. It seems that the bonds have been sold, and a credit of $12,395 86 is given on the judgment, leaving a balance of $38,086 08 due.

The Company is, therefore, minus $45,000 (the par value of the bonds,) and $38,086 08 still due in judgment; total, $83,086 08, and all this for breach of contract that had run some fifteen days; and, not a dollar advanced or expended on the other side—on the part of the party recovering this enormous sum. Without pursuing the case further, we are satisfied a new trial should be denied and judgment given for the plaintiff to amount of the verdict.

Samuel G. Courtney for plaintiff; S. P. Nash and Jas. T. Brady for defendants.

NOTICE BEFORE FINAL DISCHARGE.

In the matter of John Bellamy.—In this matter, in which a decision was rendered as to the serving of notices of application for final discharge, and some other points of practice on that subject, the Register certified to the Judge some reasons why a different practice should prevail in his judgment.

The Judge decided not to alter his former decision, but ordered that for the purpose of giving such notices every Register immediately on directing an order to show cause (Form 51) to issue, should transmit to the Clerk a list of all the proofs of debt in the case which have been furnished to the Register or the assignee, containing the names, residences and Post-office addresses of the creditors, with sufficient particulars to enable the notices (Form 52) to be properly served by the Clerk.

GENERAL RULE.

For the same reason the Judge has also adopted the following general rule:

Every assignee shall forthwith transmit to the Clerk of the Court a memorandum showing the names of the creditors and the places of residence and post-office addresses, when stated, and the amounts of their debts, in all cases in which proofs of debt have been furnished to the assignee, and hereafter every assignee shall transmit to the Clerk memorandums in every case in which proof of debt shall be furnished to the assignee, as soon as it shall be received by the assignee.

UNITED STATES COMMISSIONERS' OFFICE.

THE KENTUCKY BOURBON CASE.

The case of Daniel Messmore and others, charged with defrauding the Government of revenue on whisky, was brought up for examination before United States Commissioner WHITE yesterday.

Ex-Judge Dean, counsel for the defence, asked for a postponement of the case on the ground that he was not aware it was to be brought up so soon. He had left at home all the papers relating to the matter and was wholly unprepared to proceed at the time.

Mr. S. S. Cox, also for the defence, said that in consequence of two deaths which had recently occurred in his family, and his unavoidable absence from the City, he had not been in a condition to prepare himself for the trial that day. He would state, too, that Mr. Daniel Messmore was taken suddenly and dangerously ill in his office last Saturday, so that it was impossible for him to be present at this sitting. Since then he had not heard from Mr. Messmore, and could not say when he would be able to appear in Court. For these reasons he would join Judge Dean in his request for an adjournment.

District-Attorney Courteney said that, as Judge Dean had not made his appearance in the case till now, he certainly could not know what had taken place. That he had not seen his clients for two weeks was not a sufficient excuse to postpone the examination. The prosecution was ready to go on, and show by testimony and documents that every allegation in the case had been made in conformity with the law. The prosecution was there to substantiate each and every charge upon which the warrants were based. Unless the Commissioner thought the presence of Mr. Messmore indispensable in the examination, he would insist that the case go on. The District-Attorney did not look upon the presence of Mr. Messmore as absolutely necessary to the progress of the examination. Other defendants were present. The case had been declared by law to be one of misdemeanor, and they all knew that misdemeanors could be tried either in the presence or absence of the defendant.

Judge Dean explained that this was not the first time he had appeared in the case, inasmuch as he was present when the bail bonds of the defendants were made out. He also cited the case of George Wilkes to prove that it was essential that Mr. Messmore should be present at the examination. The difficulty, however, would be obviated by getting a written consent from Mr. Messmore to have the trial proceed.

The counsel for the defence having declared that they would be ready to proceed with the examination on Wednesday next, Commissioner WHITE adjourned the case till noon of that day, with the understanding on the part of the counsel for the defence that the examination was to proceed either with or without the presence of Mr. Messmore.

ALLEGED MUTINY AT SEA.

United States vs. George Martindale, William Crom, John Wilkinson, and two others.—Defendants were arrested on Sunday last, on the complaint of George W. Hammond, master of the ship Belle of the Seas, who charges them with attempting to excite revolt on that vessel about the 1st of September last. It seems the vessel was on a voyage from Calcutta to this port, and when within forty days of this port the mate opened a box of wine and took from it a bottle, neglecting afterwards to fasten up the box, and that some of the crew, finding it open, stole the remainder of the wine; that the Captain, in endeavoring to find the guilty ones, charged the defendants with the theft; that he placed the second-named defendant in irons, and was about ironing the third-named one, when Martindale slipped up to the man first ironed and released him; that all the crew immediately went into the forecastle and armed themselves with various weapons; that the Captain and officers armed themselves with revolvers, and twelve of the revolters were placed under restraint. Defendants say they acted in self-defence, the Captain having maltreated them severely in endeavoring to discover the thieves. Defendants were committed, in default of $1,000 bail each, for an examination on Thursday next.

THE ELEVATED RAILWAY—MOTION FOR INJUNCTION.

Richard O'Connor vs. The West Side and Yonkers Patent Railway Company.—This is a motion made by plaintiff for a permanent injunction to restrain the defendants from taking possession of premises in Greenwich-street, for the purpose of constructing an experimental elevated railway between the Battery and Cortlandt-street. The same case, in substance, came up in the Common Pleas before Judge Brady on the 7th inst., and was then fully reported in the TIMES. At the conclusion of the argument, Judge Welles took the papers and reserved his decision.

COURT OF OYER AND TERMINER.

Before Judge Ingraham.

TRIAL OF EUGENE SULLIVAN FOR MANSLAUGHTER.

At the opening of the Court of Oyer and Terminer yesterday morning, the Grand Jury came into Court and after presenting a number of indictments, were discharged with thanks.

Immediately afterward Eugene Sullivan was placed upon trial for manslaughter, in having killed a tailor named Michael Farrel, at No. 126 Mott-street, on the 6th of May last. Mr. Gunning S. Bedford, Jr., Assistant District-Attorney, appeared for the people, and Messrs. John H. Anthon and C. F. Kintzing for the prisoner. The jury was readily impaneled and Mr. Bedford proceeded to open the case for the prosecution.

Mary Woods, testified: I live at No. 113 Mott-street; in May last I lived at No. 126 same street; I was there on the 6th of May; my room was on the third floor, back; on the morning of that day, between nine and eleven o'clock, the prisoner knocked at my door; I asked him what he wanted; he said he wished to tell every one in the house that his wife was a bad woman; he said Farrel threw him in the mud-gutter that morning and he would murder him before night; he then went down stairs two flights; he then repeated to some women in the hall below what he had said to me; I washed some mud off his coat, and felt the point of a sharp knife in his pocket; I was frightened, and went up stairs a little way; he then went into the street; I heard that afternoon, at about two o'clock, that a quarrel had taken place up stairs, and a man had been stabbed; I went up on the third floor and found deceased lying in the hall dying.

Cross-examined: Knew Sullivan's wife; she lived with Farrel, deceased; the mud on Sullivan's coat looked like street mud; the prisoner seemed to be intoxicated; he was greatly excited.

John Farrel, sworn: I live at No. 69 Henry-street; am a son of the deceased; on the day of the murder I heard the prisoner say he would "kill the (using a vile epithet) before night;" this was in the street as I was going home to dinner from my work; I told my father of it.

Other testimony to the same effect was given, and the case was submitted to the jury without the introduction of any evidence for the defence.

The Judge charged the jury that there was no direct evidence of the guilt of the prisoner, as no one was present at the time except Mrs. Sullivan, who could not be called as a witness either for or against her husband. The testimony only showed the fact that the prisoner's wife lived in adultry with the deceased, and out of this circumstance grew the ill-feeling, and consequent threats against the life of Farrel. If the jury were not satisfied with the evidence as conclusive against the prisoner they must acquit.

The jury retired, and after deliberating about ten minutes, returned with a verdict of "not guilty."

At the announcement of the verdict by the foreman, loud demonstrations of joy were made by the friends of the prisoner. Some clapped their hands, some stamped their feet and others hurrahed. The Judge shouted to the officers of the Court to quell the commotion and arrest any who were engaged therein. An unfortunate "knight of the goose," who sat in the spectators' gallery, was pointed out as one of the chief offenders, and he was at once called up before the Judge to answer for violating the rules of the Court. He pleaded his ignorance of the law. Said he was a warm friend of the prisoner, and felt so glad he could not repress his demonstrative inclination. His excuse was accepted, and, after being admonished, he was discharged. Sullivan left the Court-room in a perfect ecstacy of joy at his good fortune in escaping conviction.

NAPOLEON III
SOCIETE DES SCIENCES INDUSTRIELLES ARTS ET BELLES LETTRES DE PARIS
DECERNÉE A J. B. HOFF EXTRAIT DE MALT BIERE DE SANTÉ 1861
H. DUPONT F.ᵉ 1853

A WARNING AGAINST IMITATIONS.—After the great and miraculous success of HOFF'S MALT EXTRACT in this country, it is not surprising that imitations should appear in the market.

We think it the best to warn the public by proving daily by new documents the superiority of HOFF'S genuine HEALTH BEVERAGE, not alone over all imitations, but also over the most known remedies and all tonics.

Referring to the flattering approval and report by the Committee appointed by the PRESIDENT of the N. Y. ACADEMY OF MEDICINE, who have investigated and recommended it to the profession, we publish one approval more from a well known private individual, addressed to HOFF'S MALT EXTRACT DEPOT, No. 542 BROADWAY, N. Y., ILLUSTRATING, WITH OTHERS, THE WONDERFUL EFFICACY OF HOFF'S MALT EXTRACT BEVERAGE OF HEALTH, in cases

OF IMPAIRED DIGESTION, OF A FOUL STOMACH,
OF LOSS OF APPETITE,
OF DYSPEPSIA,
OF WEAK CONSTITUTION, OF WEAK LUNGS,
OF CONVALESCENTS.

For these complaints it should be used as a beverage or table drink, and it will be found superior in taste to any liquid, invigorating all parts of the system without being irritating, and creating good blood. * * *

Further, in cases

OF COLDS AND CATARRHS,
OF OBSTINATE HOARSENESS AND COUGHS,
OF CHRONIC AND CATARRHAL DISEASES, OF THE BRONCHIAL TUBES,
AND ESPECIALLY OF PULMONARY
AND TUBERCULARY CONSUMPTION,

in which cases it should be taken as a most valuable remedy, warm, three times a day; as, during the process of boiling, the water evaporates, leaving the pure concentrated extract of Malt (the highest principle of nourishment) and HOFF'S HERB COMBINATION, which has obtained the approval of more than two hundred physicians in America, as an EXPECTORANT, and of many thousand persons benefitted by HOFF'S MALT EXTRACT.

DEAR SIR: Allow me to add to the testimonials which the heroes of Medical Science both in Europe and in this country have willingly given to you also my approval—not to demonstrate by it the high value of your Malt Extract, but to fulfill my duty by thanking my benefactor. For two years I have been sick with the rheumatic typhus fever, suffering also from swelling and suffering of the bones. Thanks to the care of an excellent physician, my life has been saved after all. My parents have given me hopeless up. It is in the power of good physicians and of medicines to cure diseases. But for the great loss of strength, general debility, fear and anxiety, and all other ills which followed my fever, there was no cure.

At last our physician induced me to try Hoff's Malt Extract. Its taste delighted me. I could take it without throwing it off soon afterwards; could digest broth, then chicken, and now I have left my bed, enjoying some strength and good appetite.
